Coping Locally With the New Abortion Law

(EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the first article of a two-part Daily Freeman special on New York State's new Abortion Law. Today's story covers excerpts of the measure and comment from local physicians and insurance agents.)

By MATT SPIRENG

KINGSTON

"An abortion act is justifiable when committed upon a female with her consent by a duly licensed physician acting (a) under a reasonable belief that such is necessary to preserve [the] her life [of such female], or, (b) within 24 weeks from the commencement of her pregnancy. A pregnant female's commission of an abortion act upon herself is justifiable when she acts upon the advice of a duly licensed physician (1) that such act is necessary to preserve her life, or, (2) within 24 weeks from the commencement of her pregnancy. The submission by a female to an abortion act is justifiable when she believes that it is being committed by a duly licensed physician, [and when she acts upon the advice of a duly licensed physician] acting under a reasonable belief that such act is necessary to preserve her life, or, within 24 weeks from the commencement of her pregnancy."

One of the most liberal abortion laws in the nation, the above quoted New York State abortion act will take effect in less than three weeks, on July 1. The act, signed by Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller on April 11, has been the cause of much recent controversy, with many diverse reactions, both for and against.

Among local physicians contacted by The Freeman the reaction to the law was mixed.

One physician, who said he was not going to perform any abortions, added that he thought it was "murder." Another said, "I'm absolutely opposed," but he would not give the reasons for his opposition.

Yet another local physician said he was opposed to "killing," whether it was one day or three months or anytime. He said his reasons were not religious, but moral, and he added that he was for maximum liberalization of sterilization. "If the state gives the right to kill, it should liberalize sterilization," he added.

Special

One physician who will be performing abortions said he would comply with the rules and regulations set up for the community at Kingston Hospital. He said he felt the new law was too liberal, but that the old one was too strict. "It is better to have them performed by well-trained physicians rather than have them done in back alleys," he added. He said his fee would be $300, the same as for therapeutic abortions, if it is performed during the first 12 weeks of pregnancy.

Another local physician also said he would abide by the regulations set up at Kingston Hospital, and that he felt the purpose of the new law was to eliminate "back alley" abortions. He added that he would continue to do as he had done before in cases of therapeutic abortion and expected to charge the standard $300 fee.

The Freeman also approached several local insurance agents with questions about insurance coverage in elected (non-therapeutic) abortion cases. Here too, the replies varied.

One agent said that as long as a person is hospitalized at the request of a doctor and the operation is performed under his supervision, she will be covered by hospitalization insurance. However, when The Freeman reporter pointed out that non-therapeutic abortions would be elective as in cases of cosmetic surgery, this agent said he was not absolutely certain of the coverage.

"The situation hasn't been fully explored yet," commented another local insurance agent when questioned by The Freeman.

Still another agent said he didn't honestly know, but that it might be covered under some health plans.

Thus, as it appears now, there are still many questions left unanswered, and many mixed reactions among physicians as the effective date for the new abortion law rapidly approaches.

NEXT: Inadequacies in the law as pointed out by several physicians and administrators and how four area hospitals will handle the situation.

Cong in a Two-Hour Massacre

70 Civilians Slaughtered in Vietnam

SAIGON (AP) — Viet Cong troops attacked a South Vietnamese village south of Da Nang early today, killed 70 civilians and wounded 31 others in two hours of slaughter. U.S. officials reported.

Survivors said the Viet Cong invaded Ba Ren Hamlet behind a mortar barrage that set fire to many houses, then ran through the streets "shooting anyone they saw" and hurling grenades into homes and civilian bunkers.

The toll was expected to rise as rescue workers dug through the ruins of nearly 200 huts destroyed or badly damaged.

A U.S. officer who flew over the hamlet 17 miles southeast of Da Nang said it was about 90 per cent destroyed or damaged.

In addition to the civilian casualties, one U.S. marine was reported killed and 11 wounded. They were part of a combined action platoon of Marines and local Vietnamese militia stationed at a highway bridge just north of Ba Ren, and a small Viet Cong force attacked them as the main units hit the town.

The platoon reportedly killed 16 Viet Cong and captured one around the bridge, but reports in Da Nang said the enemy mortar barrage pinned down a squad of Marines and militia-men who were in the hamlet, and they did not engage the attackers.

Meanwhile, the U.S. Command in Saigon reported a sharp drop in the total of American battlefield deaths last week, with 119 killed compared to 165 the previous week. But U.S. wounded rose from 757 to 1,823.

The command said 26 of the deaths and 235 of the wounded occurred in Cambodia. It said U.S. combat deaths in the Vietnam war total 42,544 since Jan. 1, 1961.

South Vietnamese headquarters reported 600 of its soldiers wounded last week and a total of 1,896 enemy slain by allied forces.

The U.S. Command also reported a total of 273 Americans killed in Cambodia since May 1, with 1,196 wounded. It said six Americans were killed and four wounded in two actions Wednesday along the Cambodian side of the border.

A Cambodian military spokesman said North Vietnamese forces were again attacking the airport at Siem Reap and may have occupied the famed ruins at nearby Angkor Wat, Cambodia's chief tourist attraction.

"We don't have any precise information on whether the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong are in the temples," Maj. Phnom Penh, the Cambodian capital, "But that side is open. We have no Cambodian forces in that area."

The spokesman said possibly 8,000 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops are now believed to be around Siem Reap, a provincial capital in northwest Cambodia 80 miles from the Thai border.

The enemy forces occupied the Siem Reap airfield last weekend, but the Cambodians regained it Sunday. Maj. Ronv said the North Vietnamese made a new attack on the field Wednesday afternoon, withdrew and then launched another assault this morning.

"Fighting is still continuing," he said. "We have no reports on latest casualties."

In Laos, Premier Souvanna

Phouma rejected South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu's proposal that his neutralist government join South Vietnam, Cambodia and Thailand in a military alliance to fight communism in Southeast Asia.

Informed sources said Prince Souvanna instead would ask the Soviet Union, Britain and other major powers to put pressure on North Vietnam to respect Lao neutrality. The sources said Souvanna would visit the foreign governments when he goes to Europe about July 25 for his annual medical visit.

Sources in Vientiane claimed that 120 North Vietnamese were killed in capturing Saravane, in the southeast Laotian panhandle, earlier this week, but they said government casualties were 40 killed and 70 wounded and 270 missing. The sources said some of the missing were believed to be prisoners of the North Vietnamese in a temple in the center of the town.

Crucial Rider Nears Senate Showdown

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate headed today into its most crucial vote to date in the month-long effort to curb future U.S. actions in Cambodia, with a last-minute flood of amendments pointing out the uncertainty of the outcome.

A handful of uncommitted senators held the key to the fate of a proposal by Sen. Robert C. Byrd's proposal that would spell out the President's authority to take whatever actions he considered necessary to protect U.S. troops in Vietnam.

Byrd's effort to weaken the so-called Cooper-Church amendment, which calls for cutting off funds for U.S. operations in Cambodia after June 30, was clouded Wednesday by the introduction of several possible revisions to his proposal—including one by himself.

Byrd tried to modify his original amendment to include a provision requesting the President to consult with congressional leaders before taking any action to protect American forces in Vietnam.

Although Sen. Frank Church,

D-Idaho, co-sponsor with Kentucky Republican John Sherman Cooper of the amendment to restrict U.S. actions in Cambodia, said he felt Byrd's revised language was an improvement, Sen. J.W. Fulbright objected and blocked the change.

"As long as you're going to put it," the Arkansas Democrat told Byrd, "Do it clear where it is obvious to everybody and don't fuff it up."

Illinois Republican Charles Percy and Sen. William B. Spong Jr., D-Va., tossed in their amendments Wednesday reflecting their opposition to Byrd's original proposal but allowing the President more latitude than provided by Cooper-Church.

Opposition to Byrd's plan centered on fear that his amendment might be construed as a grant of presidential authority similar to the Gulf of Tonkin resolution used by President Johnson for sending 500,000 U.S. troops to Vietnam.

"My amendment does not authorize anything," Byrd insisted.

Cooper-Church supporters had indicated approval of the Byrd amendment might cause them to oppose their own proposal.

Senate leaders hoped today's vote would pave the way for an end to the debate next week and final action on the military sales authorization bill, being used as a vehicle for the Cambodia debate.

While the debate droned on the floor Wednesday, a 13-man factfinding mission reported to President Nixon on the result of its four-day inspection trip to Southeast Asia.

All but one of the senators, representatives, governors and White House aides said they were optimistic about the Indochina situation, including the way the Cambodian operation was going.

As expected, Sen. Thomas J. McIntyre, D-N.H., dissented. He agreed with the others that the Cambodian attack was a tactical military success, but, he added, "The acid test... is whether we have widened the war or whether the action will help us get out of Vietnam more quickly." He said he doubted the last will happen.

Was Bargaining for Family When Slain

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The day by guerrillas who fired U.S. Army attaché in Amman, through the door of his home in Jordan was shot to death by an embattled residential section of Amman.

It was reported that the Feyadin (Palestine guerrillas) wanted to stake out Perry's house located near the base of operations for several other guerrilla organizations.

Perry was talking with the Feyadin in Arabic asking for the safety of his family when the guerrillas opened fire, the report said.

Meanwhile, Jordan's King Hussein said today things were returning to normal in Amman following four days of fighting between Jordanian troops and Palestinian guerrillas demanding the right to launch unrestricted raids into Israel.

Hussein sent cables to President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt and Premier Moammar al-Khaddafy of Libya that said, "the situation is improving very quickly."

Jordan central committee of the Palestine Resistance Movement and other guerrilla organizations again demanded fighting.

That "the Jordanian cabinet and national assembly directly shoulder their responsibility toward traitorous and conspiring elements" and demanded they be thrown out of Jordan.

Casualties were high in the four days of fighting in Amman. The Egyptian Middle East News Agency (MENA) said at least 500 persons had been killed, including 150 dead on Tuesday. Some estimates were higher.

King Hussein went on Amman Radio Wednesday night to appeal for an end to the fighting. "It is a shame that the weapons of Arabs should be aimed at other Arabs," Hussein said.

Neighboring Syria said it would not stand with arms folded if the fighting continued. "We are with the Palestinian resistance to the very end... and shall not tolerate any attempt to weaken or liquidate the resistance movement," an official broadcast by Damascus Radio said.

Al Fatah, the largest guerrilla group, said Crown Prince of Western powers, was trying to sweep Hussein from the throne.

Hassan, supported by "lackeys"

Amman Radio said calm had returned to the capital at 8 p.m. Wednesday and that joint army-guerrilla patrols had the situation under control. Al Fatah spokesmen said Jordanian artillery was pounding Arab refugee camps in Amman "indiscriminately," injuring scores of women and children.

Appeals for calm came from several Arab nations, including Iraq, Kuwait, Egypt, Libya and the Sudan.

MASSACRE—Their hands tied, two Vietnamese civilians lie dead in a street after the Viet Cong overran the northern South Vietnam hamlet of Phu Thanh, killing 70 civilians and wounding 31 others. A South

Vietnamese-spokesman said the incident killed the most civilians since the massacres at Hue during the Communist 1968 Tet offensive. (UPI Radiophoto)

Nixon to Send Some Jets, Make Peace Bid to Egypt

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States is preparing to announce some time next week agreement on the sale of a limited number of jet warplanes to Israel, while making a top-level, behind-the-scenes bid to Egypt to begin peace talks.

While declining to disclose the number of jets involved, administration officials indicated it would be a small fraction of the 125 Phantoms and Skyhawks Israel wants to buy on easy credit terms.

President Nixon and the State Department have informed Arab leaders great "restraint" will be exercised regarding the number of planes, at least for the time being, while an effort is made to persuade Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser to open indirect negotiations with the neighboring state.

The U.S. decision to make a direct approach to Egypt, probably in a letter from Nixon to Nasser, will be one of the new "initiatives" Secretary of State William P. Rogers has promised will be taken by the United States in the Middle East.

Officials acknowledged this would mean bypassing the Soviet-American negotiations as well as the Big Four talks at the United Nations. They said the aim would be the same: To get Israeli-Egyptian agreement on a formula for negotiations under the auspices of U.N.

Mediator Gunnar Jarring of Sweden.

Officials contended they still were uncertain whether the announcement on warplanes to Israel would mention any specific number, but they doubted it.

They said it would be more likely pegged to replacing Israeli losses and making up for a certain percentage of gradual obsolescence.

Nixon, when he met late last week with Foreign Minister Ahmed Laraki of Morocco, gave Laraki a message to King Hussein of Jordan, which according to officials here, promised the Israeli plane deal would involve very few aircraft at this time. Laraki had brought an appeal from Hussein in Egypt's defense.

for refusal of any planes to Israel.

The ambassadors of Saudi Arabia, Kuwait and Jordan, who called on the then Undersecretary of State Elliott Richardson Friday to argue against planes for Israel, were given similar assurances the United States would act with restraint.

The Israeli government is dismayed over evidence the United States is going to parcel out warplanes a few at a time. They wanted announcement of an agreement to sell a large number of planes, arguing that was necessary as a "psychological blow" to persuade the Soviets against increasing their already considerable military involvement in Egypt's defense.

Fatal Shootout 'Picture' for the Murder Jury

By WALTER S. CLARK

KINGSTON District Attorney Joseph P. Torraca verbally "painted" an overall picture of the fatal shootout on the State Thruway in the Town of Plattekill in his opening remarks to a jury Wednesday afternoon at the murder trial of Charles Culhane.

and Gerald McGivern, both 25, Torraca categorically told of evidence which he intends to present in testimony of witnesses to be called at the trial before County Judge Raymond J. Mino.

Paul Vladimir, attorney for Culhane, and Joshua Koplovitz, counsel for McGivern, reserved their rights to make opening remarks to the jury later during the trial which today entered its sixth day at 10 a.m.

The jury of nine men and three women was seated Tuesday afternoon when two alternate jurors, a man and woman, were selected.

When court reconvened at 2:15 p.m. yesterday, the district attorney began his remarks to the jurors. Upon completion of his talk, Torraca called Dr. N. Richard Gershon, pathologist of West Hurley, who performed an autopsy on 63-year-old William Fitzgerald of North Tarrytown, a Westchester County deputy sheriff who was fatally wounded in a shootout near the Plattekill rest area on the State Thruway Sept. 13, 1968.

Culhane, McGivern and a third prisoner, Robert Bowerman who were being transported from Auburn Prison to White Plains for a court hearing in custody of Fitzgerald and Joseph Singer, 59-year-old deputy sheriff, allegedly attempted to escape from custody when the shootout occurred. Bowerman also was fatally wounded during a struggle.

In his remarks to the jurors, Torraca detailed accounts of the incident which he expects to substantiate through witnesses. He told the jurors that on the way from Auburn Prison, the deputies were asked to stop several times at the request of Bowerman. The prosecutor said the three prisoners, who were handcuffed with security belts in the rear seat of Fitzgerald's car, grabbed the deputies from behind and a struggle ensued.

The district attorney said that after the shooting subsided, Singer made several attempts waving a handkerchief to stop passing motorists for assistance, but no one stopped. Eventually, a Thruway maintenance man arrived in a truck, and after learning of what occurred he radioed a report which was received by Trooper William Maisel, who was on patrol nearby.

Cawein of Saugerties, who has been serving as County Crusade publicity chairman. (Freeman photo by Kruh).

In the scuffle Bowerman was fatally wounded and Fitzgerald was killed with a bullet in his chest, the prosecutor noted. Culhane, McGivern and Singer were wounded. Torraca said Fitzgerald slumped over on the front seat, and Bowerman on the rear seat.

Torraca said that the main crux of the case will be testimony of Deputy Singer. After all evidence is in, Torraca told the jury he will ask them to return a verdict of guilty as charged based on evidence.

Dr. Gershon told of the autopsies he performed on Bowerman and Fitzgerald. He testified that two bullets were found in the body of the dead prisoner, and one was found in Fitzgerald's body. He said Fitzgerald died of a bullet wound of the chest, which extended downward to the right.

Under cross examination by defense attorneys, Dr. Gershon described the physical build of Fitzgerald and Bowerman. The witness stood up during parts of his cross-examination to demonstrate the location of wounds of the two dead men and to describe the course of the bullets.

Judge Mino excluded persons who may be called as witness during trial from the courtroom. Court recessed shortly before 4:30 p.m. until today when other witnesses were scheduled to be called by the prosecution.

Mayor's Phone Busy After Census Plea

KINGSTON Within minutes after Mayor Francis R. Koenig's plea went to city residents Wednesday day requesting they notify him if they hadn't been counted in the 1970 Federal Census, the telephone at City Hall began ringing with replies from citizens all over the city.

The preliminary census figures recorded a drop of 4,148 residents within the city since 1960, said that the 11 per cent decrease represented about a $440,000 loss in per capita aid. Asking for a full-scale investigation concerning the census count, the mayor wrote to Congressman Hamilton Fish Jr. and census director, Mrs. Marjorie Bronson Monday.

Mayor Koenig said he questions the validity of the count in view of the fact that for weeks there have been reports of persons not being counted. He specifically told of one eight-apartment building where no tabulation had been made and of another family with 13 children which had been skipped.

The mayor's office reported that residents from more than a dozen different streets in all areas of the city called in immediately to say they had not been counted. Postcards with similar information began filtering in this morning as did more telephone calls.

It was these and many similar reports that prompted him to seek the aid of city residents to determine just how much discrepancy there may be.

Zoning Law Discussed

SRO Crowd at Rhinebeck Meeting

By TIM SCHUSTER

RHINECLIFF
A large turnout of vocal residents turned out at the first regular meeting of Rhinebeck Town Board to be held in Rhinecliff in recent memory.

The meeting at the Rhinecliff Firehouse held a standing-room-only audience of about 75 which concerned itself primarily with questions on the proposed zoning law.

Of those who spoke almost all were of the opinion that the proposed law was unfair to "working, poor people and the retired people" which populate Rhinecliff to a great extent.

They cited as examples the restrictions of building lots to a minimum of three or five acres in a large part of the town, saying that working people could not afford this much land and couldn't take care of it properly if they owned it.

Planning Board Chairman

Homer K. Staley noted that there were large areas of the town where people could build on lots of one acre or less. One resident decried that, saying that this forced working people to locate in certain areas.

Supervisor William Allen, in response to a woman who said that the fee to get permission to paint a house would be $25, said that this was not true. Staley said that the section of the proposed law dealing with alterations has not yet been defined, but would be. He said that the fees would be used to pay the inspectors.

Allen read a petition received from a purported 95 per cent of the area merchants which asked that the Astor Flats area north of Rhinebeck village not be rezoned commercial. The petition gave as reasons that indiscriminate development would take place, and that property owners would not be protected through the advance planning that would otherwise be required.

The request that the property be rezoned commercial or highway business was made by local industrialist Robert Fried, who wants to establish a shopping center on the Route 9 property, owned by Mrs. Jennie Kennett.

There were 41 signatures on the petition presented to the Town Board last night.

A letter from Board of Education member Hans Boehm in favor of the general zoning plan also was read, urging the board to pass it as soon as possible to forestall any precipitous building plans which would otherwise conflict with the law. It was not an official statement of the board, but a personal opinion.

The Town Board unanimously passed a revised employe policy statement, outlining holiday time, sick leave, overtime, and other pertinent matters relating to town employes. A major revision from the first plan was to make sick leave retroactive to Jan. 1, 1966, rather than Jan. 1, 1970.

The meeting was billed as an open discussion on proposed cable television plans, but Councilman Robert Wolfert, the board's liaison with cablevision, was not in attendance. Town Attorney Silas Frazier answered several questions, and drew some criticism from John Young, a Rhinebeck resident who maintains 12 apartment houses in Kingston.

Young said that he had experienced very little trouble in securing service, but that interruptions in service, lack of any local programming, and lack of educational television were drawbacks. He said, "They seem to act like they have a lock on the pot, and don't care."

Allen said that the board would look into the matter of reviving the dog ordinance, which never made it last year due to numerous mixups and lack of enthusiasm.

In other business, the board approved a list of election inspectors composed of persons of both major political parties; approved money to be used to build a retaining wall in Rhinecliff; and announced members would attend seminars July 13 and 14 in Poughkeepsie on the state mandated new budget system.

A letter was read from Thomas Miller, of the Kingston National Guard Unit, thanking the town for the use of the fairgrounds for recent maneuvers.

And Highway Superintendent George Wyant said that plans have been made to widen the Hogs Bridge section of Mt. Rutsen Road and put in guard rails.

The Town Board and the Planning Board will meet in closed session this evening to decide on a date for the next public zoning hearing, and to discuss possible changes in the proposed law.

Septic Systems Board Topic In Rosendale

By NANCY SULLIVAN

ROSENDALE
"We will not be responsible for the six septic systems put in," stated Rosendale Village Mayor Carl Grassi when asked by a village resident who is responsible for the maintenance of the septic systems being installed by the state.

At Wednesday night's village board meeting, Mayor Grassi pointed out that these systems are being installed on state property through permanent easements. He added that the state says that this septic system is an "integral" part of the flood control project and the village attorney is presently checking on the original contract. Grassi stated that if the village, as a corporation, takes on the maintenance of these systems then the village will become responsible for everybody's sewer system. He did say that the village would act as the state's agent.

Mayor Grassi and Trustee Arthur Mulligan both stated that the village should not invest $5,000 at this time for extension of the water system by pipe across Route 32.

The State Conversation Department made this request in a letter to the board. Open trench excavation is prohibited and the village would be charged an additional $5,000 in case of a need for "future expansion."

Telecab, which holds the franchise for cable television in the village, announced the transfer of its Rosendale assets to Kingston Cablevision. The request asks that the board approve this transfer and that the franchise remain, in full effect, for a minimum of 15 years. Mayor Grassi stated that 15 years was too long for the franchise and that the village would want the option to terminate the contract if services are unsatisfactory.

Mulligan said he thought that the board should meet with Cablevision to see exactly what the company is going to do. The question was raised as to whether Kingston Cablevision will honor the old contracts.

A request was made that village residents should use standard 30 gallon garbage cans and should be in covered or closed containers.

STONE RIDGE PARK — Citizens of the Town of Marletown (L-R) Mrs. Fritz Fiedler, Thomas Carroll, William Casey, Fritz Fiedler Jr. and Ken Davenport work on clearing the land for a park being established in Stone Ridge. Work sessions on the park are held every Wednesday from 6 to 8 p. m. and any interested citizens who would like to help in the beautification project should call Mrs. William Davenport or Othman Abu-Gheida.

Arnold Charged With Murder In Fatal Shooting of Woman

By WALTER S. CLARK

KINGSTON
Lying in a bed in an intensive care unit room at Kingston Hospital, where he is recovering from a bullet wound of the head, 29-year-old Ronald H. Arnold, of Queens Highway, Kerhonkson, Wednesday afternoon asked City Judge Hubert A. Richter to assign counsel to defend him in a case involving a murder charge.

Arnold was formally placed under arrest early yesterday afternoon by state police from Ellenville, who executed a warrant issued by Rochester Town Justice Harold Lipton accusing the man of homicide in the recent fatal shooting of 31-year-old Elizabeth C. Blaustein of Wallkill and Allgerville. At the bedside arraignment shortly after 12:30 p.m., were State Police BCI officers and Ellen G. Donovan, assistant district attorney.

The defendant allegedly shot the woman on the morning of June 1 as the two were together in Mrs. Blaustein's station wagon in the vicinity of Kysler Road and Route 209 near the hamlet of Accord. Arnold, who remains in serious condition at the hospital here, reportedly turned the 9 mm automatic revolver on himself after fatally wounding the woman, who was separated from her husband.

After the brief arraignment, state police officials assigned a guard, who will keep Arnold in custody until a hearing scheduled before Judge Lipton on June 17.

Judge Richter read the contents of the warrant signed recently by the Rochester Justice to the defendant after informing Arnold of his rights to have counsel and a preliminary examination. Richter then read the information which accused the defendant of murder and a deposition by a state trooper who investigated the shooting incident.

Arnold requested the judge to assign an attorney to represent him in future proceedings. Francis Martocci, city attorney, was assigned and Miss Donovan was asked to inform Martocci, who was not present. Martocci was expected to visit the Kerhonkson man, who is a guard at the Catskill Reformatory at Napanoch.

Wage, Price Controls Are Favored During Viet War

By GEORGE GALLUP

Copyright, 1970, American Institute of Public Opinion. All rights reserved. Reproduction in whole or part strictly prohibited, except with written consent of the copyright holders.

PRINCETON, N. J., June 10—President Nixon is reported to be weighing the pros and cons of voluntary wage-price restraints as a means of stopping inflation.

Actually, if the question of wage and price controls were put to the people of the nation in the form of a referendum, the odds are that they would go further than voluntary controls and vote in favor of mandatory controls.

The latest survey shows 48 per cent of persons interviewed in favor of "freezing" prices and wages at their present level as long as the Vietnam war lasts, 41 per cent opposed, and 11 per cent with no opinion.

Age Is Key Factor

The clearest differences in opinion are found in terms of age. Older persons, who are either on a fixed income now or anticipate being on one in the near future, look favorably upon controls.

On the other hand, young adults look to improve their salary picture and therefore oppose mandatory restraints.

Labor union leaders and heads of industry traditionally oppose wage-price restraints, but skilled workers, many of whom are union members, currently vote in favor of a "freeze."

Mayors of some of the nation's largest cities—including Mayor John Lindsay of New York—have recently called for wage-price controls. Economists are lined up on both sides of the issue, with some opposing this move because they feel it would interfere with the workings of the free enterprise system.

Others, like John Kenneth Galbraith, support a freeze in wages and prices. In a recent article in The New York Times Magazine, Galbraith writes: "... in fact, the only answer is one that has for so long been dismissed as disreputable. That is to act directly on the wage-price spiral—to have wage and price control where the spiral contributes actively to inflation."

Controls Favored During Wartime

Thirty-five years of public opinion measurement have shown the public in favor of wage and price controls during periods of war and severe inflation.

Only a few weeks after the start of the Korean war, in 1950, the Gallup Poll found a clear majority of 55 per cent in favor of "freezing" both prices and wages.

Shortly after Pearl Harbor, in Dec., 1941, a large majority of Americans favored a tough program for controlling prices and wages.

For the survey reported today, a total of 1,509 adults were interviewed in person in more than 300 scientifically selected localities across the nation. Field work was undertaken May 22-25. Following is the question asked: It has been suggested that prices and wages (salaries) be frozen—that is, kept at their present level, as long as the Vietnam war lasts. Do you think this is a good idea or a poor idea?

Following are the national results and the findings by age and politics. Democrats, it is seen, are divided on the issues of a freeze in wages and prices, whereas Republicans and Independents vote in favor of it.

Cablevision Service

Editor, The Freeman:

A very pleasant representative of Cablevision came this morning to check my television reception. He did discover some fault with the Cablevision line coming in, which he corrected. He also explained that a new law necessitated changes in Channel 2.

Since these were the items I had complained about publicly, I feel I should acknowledge their correction and explanation via the same media. Thank you for prompt service.

South Vietnam Election

Editor, The Freeman:

Eugene Loughlin's comments regarding the elections in South Vietnam are ludicrous and illogical. If Mr. Loughlin will persist in refusing to face the issues underlying our tragic misadventure in Vietnam, he must not attempt to offer rebuttals. Mr. Loughlin offers the intemperate statement, to wit: the kind of elections held in South Vietnam are "not important." Mr. Loughlin offers as his trump card "that they were held at all is the issue."

Elections are held in Russia. Using Mr. Loughlin's lame analogy, we should consider those Russian elections praiseworthy irrespective of their utility.

The "autocratic rule" Mr. Loughlin singled out as the burden under which the Vietnamese suffered was, at least for the last 100 years, French colonial rule. To throw off the yoke of the exploitive rule, honorable Vietnamese nationalists engaged in a war to rout the French. These exploiters who Mr. Loughlin described as "autocratic" and justly, are the very ones Mr. Nixon was so eager to aid in 1954.

As for the 900,000 Vietnamese who came South, Mr. Loughlin can learn for himself if he will consult unimpeachable sources this this exodus was freely permitted and gladly accepted by Ky and his cohorts, the greater portion of whom aided the oppressive French rather than their exploited Vietnamese brothers. It is this same Ky and his brother traitors who Mr. Loughlin wishes us to accept as a democratically elected government. What is more no one could stand up for the candidacy of President in those absurd elections who was even moderately opposed to the war. One would have to be far more naive than the simplest reader to accept this nonsense.

There is nothing in the facts surrounding the entire Vietnamese debacle that justifies the death and maiming of one single American youth. The only ones who benefit from the war are the Military and that portion of industry which fattens on blood, an old custom. For the most part, decent, honorable, thoughtful Americans who are in the majority, lament and regret the Vietnam war.

There are many more things to talk about, the discredited Tonkin Bay resolution, for example, which Lyndon Johnson and the Pentagon maneuvered so cunningly, but some people are not amenable to persuasive fact.

Sincerely,

(Mrs.) SYLVIA R. DAY

Feminine Liberals' Many Blessings

By LEON DENNEN

(NEA Foreign News Analyst)

Even affluent advocates of radical feminism see women as the "most exploited social class" in capitalistic society.

Feminism will become "a central issue in American life" within the next few years, warns an editorial in the Journal Women's Liberation.

Female activists of the upper middle class—unhappy with life in their "air-conditioned nightmare" and increasingly resentful of "male supremacy"—are even convinced that only through revolution will they achieve equality with men. "Full emancipation," they believe, can be realized only in a "classless society."

Yet a closer look at the "classless" states of the East will soon reveal to the members of Women's Lib that they harbor illusions.

No doubt women in the democratic West have many justified grievances, but their status under the free enterprise system is incomparably superior to that of their sisters in the Marxist-Leninist world.

For instance, more than half of the labor force in "socialist" Russia is female. According to the Kremlin's propagandists, this proves that "full equality of sexes" exists in the Soviet Union.

But even Moscow's authoritative Literary Gazette conceded recently that women employed on construction sites, in factories, mines and the railways "usually do the heaviest work while men operate the machines."

The Communist revolution, the Marxist-Leninists claim, "put an end to the denial of women's rights and opened up before them wide possibilities for active participation in public work."

On paper this is true. Men and women are equally entitled to further training for the improvement of their qualifications. But under Soviet economic and social conditions the dual burden of sharing the breadwinner's role and looking after the family means that women usually have neither the time nor the energy to spare.

In fact, in no Western capitalist country—certainly not in the United States—do women perform heavy physical work on such a scale as in the Communist countries.

Moreover, in no capitalist country is there a greater economic and social gulf between the wives of the "upperclass" Communist bureaucrats or professional women and ordinary working women as in the Communist states.

Russian women, especially the unqualified, are frequently unaware of their underprivileged status. Only a minority, usually the young and better-educated, see the lack of true equality of the sexes.

But even their dissatisfaction is seldom expressed in the form of social protest but rather in personal tensions and a strained family atmosphere.

The Communist authorities are increasingly worried by the increase in broken marriages and the alarming drop in the birth rate. In 1960 the national average was 24.9 births per thousand of the population, but by 1969 the figure had fallen to 17.

For many years after the revolution it was considered that the Communist state could take over the mother's role in the rearing of children and thus remove the obstacle to full-time employment for women.

But even many die-hard Marxist-Leninist sociologists now point out that the collective upbringing of children is no real substitute for family environment.

Nevertheless, there has been no letup in the drive to recruit women for heavy labor.

Moscow just celebrated "Women's Day" as part of the official paeon to "emancipated" Soviet womanhood. For the Kremlin this was another occasion to convince Russian women that "the sacrifice of personal interests to production is the supreme virtue in Communist society."

Is this the kind of equality Women's Lib hopes to gain through revolution?

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, JUNE 11, 1970

Turn of the Squares

The majority of the 40,000 student body at Ohio State University had had enough. Disorders beginning April 29 shut down the university for 12 days in May. The last of 4,000 National Guardsmen left the campus just before Memorial Day, after standing guard for a week of student violence.

Then a group of nine students calling themselves Students for Majority Rights filed suit against the leaders of a student strike and asked for a million dollars in damages and an injunction barring further disruption. They wanted to be let alone, free of intimidation and violence, to pursue the education for which their parents were paying and for which they had come to college.

The wonder is, that no other group of students had taken this simple, direct method of assuring themselves the education they seek. John A. Coppeler, 22, a senior journalism student, heads the Ohio State group. He described himself as a political moderate. His parents have joined him in the suit, filed in Franklin County Common Pleas Court.

Among those named as defendants was David Kettler, a professor of political science, who urged students to continue their attack on the university system. Another was Edmond W. Boston, a non-student member of the campus Afro-Am Society. In addition, seven students were named, two girls and five boys. Also, the Third World Solidarity Committee, the Student Mobilization Committee and the AD Hoc Committee for Students Rights.

The purpose of the suit, Coppeler said, is mainly to "assert the right of students who wish to pursue their educational goals in an atmosphere free of intimidation and violence." It has had the immediate effect of silencing the defendants, on the advice of their lawyers. The so-called squares have found a way to continue with their schooling. They have shown the millions of like-minded college students on other campuses how to do it.

Thais Volunteers

With the dispatch of Thai volunteers to Cambodia, the Indochina war crawls closer to a war of Asians for and by Asians. The Thais will defend Phnom Penh, the capital of Cambodia, and the two provinces that adjoin Thailand, Battambang and Siem Reap, provinces which were occupied by Thailand for 118 years—first from 1794 to 1907; and again from 1941 to 1946, during the Japanese occupation of Indochina.

Due to this history, there are many Cambodians living in Thailand opposite these provinces. And many Thai, on the border who speak Cambodian. The volunteers will be drawn from these bilingual people, so that they will be more acceptable to native Cambodians.

The United States is not directly involved in this development, but is happy about it because it advances President Nixon's Guam doctrine. Especially, that the Thai and Cambodians are overcoming centuries of enmity in common defense against a hated foe. Thai Prime Minister Thanon Kittikachorn has had forces in South Vietnam and now he will have substantial forces in Cambodia.

Thailand's intervention is for its own protection as well as that of Cambodia. As Prime Minister Thanon reasoned, while the volunteers are being sent at Cambodia's request, it would be better for Thailand to fight the Communist enemy away from home rather than to wait for him to arrive "at one's door." The volunteers expand Thailand's support, which began with river boats, uniforms and other equipment as well as joint air reconnaissance along the Thai-Cambodian border.

The Indochina war is escalating into essentially a war of free Asian nations against Communism; and is in their own self-defense.

David Lawrence Says Enslavement of Baltic States by Soviet Union

WASHINGTON — It isn't often that a nation fights on both sides of a major war and comes out with a big prize derived from each adversary.

The younger generation of today wasn't even born when it all happened. For on the 15th of this month, a tragic anniversary will be recorded. On that day in 1940 the Soviet Union—then an ally of Nazi Germany—annexed Lithuania, Estonia and Latvia, which the Red army had invaded and occupied after the conquest of Poland. Later on, when Hitler turned on the Russians in June 1941, America came to their aid, and as a consequence of the victory of the Western Allies, the Soviet Union was able to secure dominant control over the so-called independent governments in Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Rumania, Bulgaria and East Germany.

Without Hitler's help, the Russians wouldn't have acquired the Baltic States. Without America's aid, they wouldn't have won control of the "captive nations" of Eastern Europe.

The seizure of the Baltic States—Lithuania, Latvia and Estonia—has for many years been the subject of discussion in the United States, and efforts have been made in the United Nations to persuade the Russians to liberate the three countries. The United States Government has over the past 30 years maintained a policy of non-recognition of the occupation of the Baltic States. The Senate Foreign Relations Committee has again and again expressed disapproval of the Soviet course.

Just four years ago, the House and Senate, each by unanimous vote, adopted a concurrent resolution urging the President of the United States "to direct the attention of world opinion at the United Nations and at other appropriate international forums and by such means as he deems appropriate, to the denial of the rights of self-determination for the peoples of Estonia, Latvia, and Lithuania, and to bring the force of world opinion to bear on behalf of the restoration of these rights to the Baltic peoples." The resolution says:

"The subjection of peoples to alien subjugation, domination, and exploitation constitutes a denial of fundamental human rights, is contrary to the charter of the United Nations, and is an impediment to the promotion of world peace and cooperation."

"All peoples have the right to self-determination; by virtue of that right they freely determine their political status and freely pursue their economic, social, cultural, and religious development."

"The Baltic peoples of Estonia, Latvia, and Lithuania have been forcibly deprived of these rights by the government of the Soviet Union."

An organization called "Americans for Congressional Action to Free the Baltic States" was formed a few years ago, and Richard M. Nixon has been a member of its honorary committee since 1967.

There are a large number of descendants and relatives of natives of Lithuania, Latvia and Estonia residing in America today, but many citizens with no ethnic connections have also been sympathetic with the movement to terminate the enslavement of the Baltic States by the Soviet Union and to restore their independence.

The occupation of the Baltic States since 1940 has been called one of the most brutal of all times. The three countries have lost more than one fourth of their entire population. During the period between 1940 and 1952, 30,000 Lithuanian freedom fighters were killed in an organized resistance movement against the invaders. Cessation in 1952 of armed guerrilla warfare didn't end the protest against Soviet domination, and passive resistance has continued, while efforts to present the case of the Baltic States have proceeded in different parts of the world.

At a time when western powers have been granting freedom and independence to many nations in Africa, Asia and other areas, liberation of the peoples of Lithuania, Latvia and Estonia has not had the widespread support it deserves. Attempts are being made to get a supplementary resolution passed by Congress soon to reaffirm that all peoples have the right to self-determination, which means the right freely to choose their own government and to pursue their own development. The objective is to persuade the administration here to bring the issue of the Baltic States before the United Nations and to present again to the world the case for complete withdrawal of the Soviets from Lithuania, Latvia and Estonia.

Strong Sentiment for Buckley Within Republican Ranks

By CHARLES DUMAS

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — James L. Buckley's campaign strategists confidently expect to reap a flock of Republican endorsements for his Conservative party candidacy for U.S. senator after the June 23 primary.

Buckley is not involved in the primary, but many of the officeholders who want to endorse him are — so they are waiting until after the electoral dust settles to declare their positions.

Indications are that at least one Republican congressman, and as many as four or five, will pledge their support to Buckley in lieu of their own party's candidate, U.S. Sen. Charles E. Goodell.

A dozen incumbent state senators and assemblymen also are said to be more than willing to take a public stand for Buckley. And some Republican party officials, at the county and town level, are itching to jump in.

The prospect is delightfully pleasing to the Conservative Party's executive director, James D. Griffin, who admits to the suspicion that his party just might happen to have its first statewide election victor on its hands.

"If all of the Republicans — and Democrats and independents — who tell us they're going to vote for Buckley actually do so, he'll win by a mile," Griffin says.

Informal checks by Capitol newsmen bear out Griffin's contention that there is strong sentiment for Buckley within the Republican rank-and-file.

For example, a Capitol Corridors poll of GOP loyalists who work for the legislature or for Gov. Rockefeller's administration failed to turn up one Goodell vote. Most of the 23 persons questioned volunteered that they would vote for Buckley instead.

In each instance, the reason given was the same — the feeling that Goodell had betrayed the Republican party by becoming an instant liberal, as exemplified by his vocal opposition to President Nixon's Indochina war policies, after Rockefeller appointed him to fill the late Robert F. Kennedy's Senate seat.

Last week, U.S. Rep. Martin B. McKeenly of Newburgh let it be known at the national capital that he was seriously thinking of endorsing Buckley, an enrolled Republican running as the Conservatives' rally-round-the-flag alternative to Goodell.

"I have absolutely no respect for the other fellow at all," McKeenly subsequently told The Associated Press.

McKeenly indicated that he would have an announcement after the primary election and that he expected he would be joined in his decision by at least a few other conservative-minded GOP congressmen.

Griffin said he had been assured of Buckley endorsements by a substantial number of Republican state legislators who have Conservative party backing in their re-election campaigns.

One who already has declared, State Sen. John J. Marchi of Staten Island, has agreed to head a Republicans for Buckley committee. Marchi had conservative support in his unsuccessful race for mayor of New York City last year.

A few days ago, Mrs. Elizabeth Tuttle, a GOP State Committee member from Putnam County, became the first avowed rebel within the party apparatus.

Declaring her endorsement of Buckley, Mrs. Tuttle said, "I could not support anyone who has been so outspokenly critical of President Nixon's policies as Senator Goodell."

It appears that she's going to have a lot of company.

Jack Anderson Says Acquitted of Spying, Egypt Still Holds Newsman Prisoner

WASHINGTON — The mighty Associated Press, whose reporters are the eyes and ears for newspaper readers around the world, has let one of its reporters languish for 18 months in an Egyptian concentration camp with hardly a murmur of public protest.

The case against Aly Mahmoud, the AP's No. 2 man in Cairo, was so flimsy that an Egyptian court acquitted him of espionage charges a year ago. Yet he is still held in a foul detention camp for the crime, apparently, of reporting the news too objectively to suit President Nasser.

Instead of raising a howl to free Mahmoud, however, the AP has hushed up about the injustice. The AP doesn't want to jeopardize its profitable news service in the Arab world or get its correspondents kicked out of Arab lands.

This is all too typical of the timidity of the great news-gathering organizations, which have shown a distressing reluctance to back up their reporters against the forces that would like to shape the news.

Captured Correspondents
Several newsmen, for instance, have been captured by North Vietnamese soldiers in Cambodia. They can't be released without demolishing the fiction that North Vietnam has no troops in Cambodia.

Hoping to wheedle their release, the news organizations have made whispered appeals to embassies with friendly ties to Hanoi. Other polite appeals have been addressed to Prince Sihanouk, the exiled Cambodian ruler who has gone over to the communist side. All in vain.

Instead of pussyfooting around to the back doors, the press ought to bang loudly on the embassies' front doors. The United Nations, the Kremlin, the Vatican, the Red Cross should be called upon to intervene.

The press should turn up the spotlight on the missing newsmen and let the world know that North Vietnam won't free them because it is afraid of the truth.

Certainly, the capture of North Vietnamese soldiers and supplies in Cambodia ought to be evidence enough that Cambodian neutrality had been violated. The newsmen, if they should be freed, could tell the world little that isn't fully known.

Every time a newsmen is held captive, the truth dies a little. For any interference with news gathering is an infringement upon the people's right to know.

Aly Mahmoud, a journalism graduate from Cairo's American University, has worked for AP since 1960. On November 28, 1968, he was grabbed by plainclothesmen at Cairo airport along with a representative from a Geneva feature service. The Geneva man was carrying three free-lance stories written by Mahmoud. They were bland, non-secret "thumbsucks" as general situation stories are known in the news trade.

Mahmoud was locked up in a Cairo jail without bond or hearing on charges of spying for Israel. AP kept up his salary to his wife and three children but made no real public protest.

After five months in a security cell, Mahmoud was hauled out in April, 1969, for a show trial before a "Special State Security Court." Long-gowned waiters served coffee in the seedy courtroom while onlookers smoked and chatted about the proceeding.

Refusing to confess, Mahmoud called the case "a complete fabrication" and "a lousy, botched up" one at that. Indeed, "the evidence against him was so weak that the court acquitted him on June 28, 1969."

But instead of turning him loose, the government dumped him into a filthy concentration camp across the Nile from Cairo. The three civilian judges, who voted for his acquittal, were mysteriously "retired." Now, a year later, he is still being held, and the Associated Press is still playing it quiet.

$138 Million Celebration
The Federal Power Commission celebrated its 50th anniversary last week by dealing a $138 million blow to the American consumers whom it is sworn to protect.

Their mischief done, the commission members settled down to a day of seminars and banqueting at which the main speakers were executives from the power firms which the FPC supposedly regulates.

The blow to the consumers came from an FPC decision, reversing the landmark Alabama-Tennessee gas rate case. An earlier, 1964 decision required gas transmission companies to turn back liberalized tax savings to the consumers.

But the Nixon administration has appointed reluctant regulators to protect the public interest at the FPC. Chairman John Nassikas signed a new order last week turning over the tax revenue to the gas industry. The cost to the consumers will be more than $138 million every year.

After the order had been signed, the regulators and regulated listened together to speeches by executives from Northern Natural Gas, Commonwealth Edison and American Electric Power.

The FPC picked its speakers well. The Justice Department recently filed a anti-trust suit against Northern Natural Gas, and American Electric Power is the subject of an anti-merger fight waged by Attorney General John Mitchell.

In reference to the charges contained in the above column, The Associated Press has issued the following statement:

The Associated Press has worked continuously to obtain Aly Mahmoud's release since his arrest although the charges against him had nothing to do with his work for The Associated Press. They involved a series of three articles Mahmoud wrote on his own for a free lance photographer, Munir Abdel Ghani, who was subsequently convicted of espionage for Israel and sentenced to 15 years. Mahmoud was acquitted on his plea that he was an unwitting dupe of Ghani but then held under an Egyptian detention law.

The Associated Press has repeatedly sought Mahmoud's release through Egyptian authorities, paid all Mahmoud's legal expenses and continued financial assistance to his family during his long imprisonment. It still seeks his release.

The AP's operation in Egypt is primarily maintained for sending news to the rest of the world. Our revenue in that country has not matched our expenses for a decade.

Anderson could have established these facts by a simple telephone call to The Associated Press.

Henry J. Taylor Says Change in Economic Policy

Behind the White House scenes the government has made a fundamental change in economic policy. Make no mistake about that. Moreover, in actual truth the stock and bond market situation was finally the decisive prod.

On impeccable White House authority here is what has happened and why it happened.

President Nixon gets his most consequential economic advice from a very independent-minded quartet: Council of Economic Advisers Chairman Paul McCracken, Budget Director Robert P. Mayo, Treasury Secretary David M. Kennedy and (unofficially) new Federal Reserve Board Chairman Arthur F. Burns. Mr. Burns is probably the foremost business-cycle analyst in the world and is respected as such here and abroad and by Mr. Nixon, Mr. McCracken, Mr. Mayo and Mr. Kennedy alike.

From the beginning of the battle against inflation all have shared, the President included, a governing view that reassured them regarding recessions: the fact that during all four major recessions since World War II consumer spending actually advanced and that this has grown typical of a recession and not a depression.

But on November 1 all five suffered a behind-the-scenes surprise. Automobile dealers' stocks rose to an all-time record 1,440,000 cars and this bellweather industry's cutbacks, larger than the above five gentlemen expected, began.

Promptly, another consumer-buying surprise joined the decline of the general index. The sale of color-TV sets collapsed. About 5.6 million were sold last year. By the end of March the factory sales had fallen 31 per cent and factory inventories were up 30 per cent from a year earlier.

Similar evidences of unprecedented declines in consumer buying accumulated steadily and the five quietly decided that the recession was clearly breaking the pattern of the four major recessions since World War II. Mr. Nixon himself was the first of the five to become convinced of this.

Meanwhile, the stock market had fallen with a resounding thud (December 7) through the critical, four-times-tested 800 level in the Dow Jones industrial average. And the percentage of losses in bonds, the workhorses of the economy and supposedly less risky than stocks, grew to exceed even the shattering losses in stocks in what became the most brutal bear market in 32 years.

Nine prime U.S. Government issues, marketed at 100, fell below 70. They had lost nearly a third of their value. In addition, although many highest-grade corporate bonds were offered at the highest coupon rates since the Civil War, a veritable Motherhorn of freshly printed bond issues, including tax-exempts, remained piled in unsold masses on dealers' shelves.

Timely Quote

I guess it's a pretty hard job being President. Sometimes what you plan just doesn't work out. He's doing the best he can. —Vicki Lynn Cole, 15, whose sign, "Bring Us Together Again," became the theme for President Nixon's inaugural address.

You're like an animal and everybody's staring at you up and down and back up again. —Last year's Miss U.S.A., Wendy Dascomb.

BEFORE A TRAGIC END — William E. Thoresen III, 32, son of president of Great Western Steel Co and a gun collector once convicted of possessing a huge arsenal of military weapons, was shot and killed Wednesday. Police held his wife, Louise, 32, for questioning. The couple is shown at San Francisco Federal Building, after his conviction of weapons possession in April of 1969. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

The Economy Crimp Affects Goldberg

By United Press International

The crimp in the economy is putting a crimp in the Arthur J. Goldberg primary campaign for governor in New York.

With less than two weeks to go before Democrats choose between Goldberg and millionaire Howard J. Samuels for the gubernatorial nomination, Goldberg campaign treasurer Sal Catala said Wednesday "economic disaster" has reduced contributions.

The finance chairman for the Democratic committee-endorsed gubernatorial candidate said salaries of most of the Goldberg campaign staff had been reduced 20 per cent. Some employees were dismissed, Catala said in New York, so more money could be spent on television commercials, rallies and other forms of publicity.

While the former U.S. labor secretary was losing campaign money, he was gaining union support.

Leaders in unions representing 500,000 workers in the state announced support for Goldberg. Among the unions were the United Auto Workers, United Steel Workers, International Ladies Garment Workers, the International Association of Machinists, Amalgamated Clothing Workers, National Maritime Union and the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees.

Endorsing Governor Rockefeller, whom Goldberg hopes to challenge for re-election, have been the construction trade unions, the Teamsters and the Police Conference.

In U.S. Senate campaign action, Republican Charles E. Goodell announced a campaign team and immediately came under attack from a possible opponent, Paul O'Dwyer.

O'Dwyer accused Goodell of having a "split political personality" in saying he would campaign with Governor Rockefeller and independently.

"When he first announced his candidacy for the Senate this year," O'Dwyer said, "Mr. Goodell held a press conference with Sen. (Jacob K.) Javits to influence the 'liberal' vote and with William Miller (of Lockport), Sen. (Barry M.) Goldwater's 1964 running mate, to please the 'conservatives.'"

"Will the real Senator Goodell please stand up?"

In action among other candidates:

— Robert Meehan, Rockland County District attorney and candidate for the state attorney general Democratic nomination, suggested in Newburgh that the state legalize policy operation as one way of depriving the underworld of financial support.

— Lieutenant governor candidate Basil A. Paterson urged the Nixon administration to sell additional jet planes to Israel.

The state senator from Harlem also criticized "people who try to exacerbate the differences between the black and Jewish communities."

— Samuels released a position paper on women's rights, vowing to "seek qualified women to fill high positions in my administration," if elected.

Faith Seidenburg, a Syracuse attorney, was among women leaders meeting with Samuels at his New York headquarters.

— Goodell announced appointment of four campaign aides. They were Robert W. Sweet as campaign manager, Charles A. Schoenbeck as upstate manager, John Trubin as chairman and Eugene Callendar as vice chairman.

Rocky Mulling Speedy RR Line Running Between N.Y.—Buffalo

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller's administration is seriously studying the idea of operating a new, high-speed railroad between New York City and Buffalo, via Albany and Syracuse. The service would cut rail travel time by an estimated 40 per cent.

The State Transportation Department said that it would cost about $107 million for turbo-trains and other facilities needed for the service and that it would take three to five years to put it into operation.

The present thought, a spokesman said, is to spread the cost over a 25-year period through bond borrowing. Interest rates thus would run the over-all cost to about $285 million.

The plan was revealed today by Rockefeller, who reported that the department had completed a preliminary "concept study" of the idea and now would undertake detailed studies to decide whether it actually is feasible.

As presently envisioned, the high-speed service would be operated over tracks now used by the Penn Central Railroad. The Penn Central's "Empire Service" trains take 2 hours and 40 minutes for trips between New York City and Albany and at least 7½ hours for the New York-Buffalo run.

Rockefeller said the high-speed service would reduce the Albany-New York travel time by about one hour and the Buffalo-New York run by about three hours.

The department said the new service would operate 24 trains a day between New York and Albany, thus offering hourly service, with about 20 daily trains connecting to Syracuse and about 19 a day to Buffalo.

The estimated cost of installing the service includes improvements to the present tracks and roadbed, provision of a third track in some places, and improved terminal and parking facilities.

The department said the service would be installed by a public agency, which would have the option of leasing it to a private carrier or firm for actual operation.

No further details of the plan have been developed.

Rockefeller said the preliminary study had found the New York-Buffalo travel corridor "most promising" for high-speed service. Indications are, he continued, that operating income might equal or slightly exceed costs.

"Substantial user savings and other socio-economic benefits would probably more than offset anticipated capital costs," he asserted.

The first detailed study will be a thorough analysis of the market for such service. If the idea is deemed practical, the analysis would be followed by an engineering study to pinpoint the equipments and other facilities needed.

Rockefeller said the market analysis was expected to take about a year and the engineering study an additional six months.

The department said the en-

Teddy to Seek A Full Term

BOSTON (UPI)—U.S. Senate Majority Whip Edward M. Kennedy, fulfilling a promise made last summer after Mary Jo Kopechne died in his car, announced today he would seek re-election to a full six-year term, ruling himself out of the 1972 presidential campaign.

The 38-year-old Democrat, one of the most frequent outspoken of antiwar critics, made the announcement in his Boston apartment overlooking the Charles River.

Kennedy's opponent will be former Republican State Committee Chairman Josiah Spaulding.

Kennedy first was elected to the Senate in 1962 in a special election to fill the unexpired term of his brother John when he was elected President.

Benjamin Smith, former roommate of John F. Kennedy when they were at Harvard, had filled the Senate seat by appointment after the older Kennedy had been elected to the White House and before the special election.

In 1964, Kennedy severely injured his back in a plane crash while flying to the Democratic state convention in West Springfield. He was hospitalized until Christmas but still swamped his Republican opponent, Howard Whittemore, in the November election.

The senator still is forced to wear a back brace because of the injury.

He ousted Sen. Russell Long, D-La., as Senate majority whip when the 91st Congress opened in January 1969.

Kennedy's car—with him at the wheel and Miss Kopechne in the front seat—went off a wooden bridge on Chappaquiddick Island last July 18 as he and the 28-year-old secretary were heading toward the last ferry back to Martha's Vineyard, 120 yards across a channel. The senator escaped but was unsuccessful in repeated attempts to save the girl.

He pleaded guilty a week later to a charge of leaving the scene of an accident. He was given a suspended two-month sentence and was placed on probation for a year and his driving license was suspended for a year.

An Early Release For Some Reserves

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — About 13,000 New York National Guard and Air Guard members called to active duty during the March postal strike will gain an early release from active reserve status, under an order approved Wednesday by Gov. Rockefeller.

The governor's office said this meant that as many as 3,000 guardsmen could be released within a few weeks.

Under Rockefeller's order, one year will be cut from the six-year enlistment of the New York City area guardsmen who served approximately a week on active duty during the postal strike.

Thus guardsmen who have already completed five years of service or more—about 3,000 of them—became eligible immediately for release.

This will open up highly coveted spaces in the guard for young men who prefer to complete their military service via a six-year enlistment, rather than enlisting in the regular military armed forces.

Because of administrative problems entailed in releasing so many guardsmen at once, no one will actually be released until after July 1. Applications for release will be accepted immediately, Rockefeller's office added.

The remaining guardsmen who served during the postal strike will be eligible for release upon completion of five years of service. The governor said this would happen at about the rate of 200 a month.

Budget Fails To Get Approved In Wappingers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Voters of the Dutchess County community of Wappingers Falls defeated a proposed $18.98 million central schools budget Wednesday, while voters in the Haldane central school district, Putnam County, approved a $14.7 million budget.

Rejection of the Wappingers proposed expenditure means the district will operate on a so-called "austerity" budget for the second straight year. Under "austerity" financing, textbooks and school supplies are paid for through fees rather than tax assessments.

That budget was defeated by a 235 margin, 3,139 to 2,814. Voters elected long-time critic of fiscal policies Joseph Komyath to a school board seat.

The district has about 15,000 pupils.

Kekkonen to Visit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Urho Kekkonen of Finland has accepted President Nixon's invitation to visit Washington July 22 to 24, the White House announced Wednesday.

Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler also said that King Hussein II of Morocco has postponed his July visit until later in the year because the

The governor's consent as commander in chief of the state's military forces was required by law before the guardsmen's six year enlistments could be reduced.

Develop Wonder Grass For Commercial Use

Previously rejected budget was a special proposition of $64,924 proved by voters in the Town of Haldane central school district. The expenditure included transportation and supplies.

Develop Wonder Grass For Commercial Use

EILAT, Israel (AP) — A wonder grass with multiple uses and a promising commercial future has been developed in Israel's Negev Desert.

Its growers claim it can reduce water pollution, cheaply substitute for wood pulp in the production of high-quality paper and do many more things.

Dr. Hugo Boyko, who died in May, developed the reed-like vegetation called juncus-esparto, using desert sand and plentiful underground saline water.

Just before his death Boyko said tests in Scottish and English paper mills had yielded excellent results.

"I'm not trying to tell you that the juncus is going to completely replace wood pulp for papermaking," he said. "But the market for high quality paper is so great that we will have absolutely no trouble selling our entire production no matter how large it becomes—and we shall be able to cover millions of desert acres now empty and unused."

Boyko said the grass can purify urban or industrial waste water by breaking down noxious compounds or destroying harmful micro-organisms.

"Water filtered through the grass is clean enough to drink," the scientist asserted.

The grass has found other uses in pharmaceutical laboratories, as a dairy fodder, in the manufacture of woven mats, baskets and wicker furniture, in the production of plastic sheets and as an insulating material.

AUTO CRASH VICTIM — Organist Earl Grant, famed for his instrumental version of "Ebb Tide" and composer of numerous hit recordings, died Wednesday in an automobile crash in the New Mexico desert. He was 39. Police said a companion, Roosevelt Woods, 17, of Los Angeles, also was killed in the single-car accident. State Police said Grant's Rolls-Royce swerved off a curve on Interstate 10 and overturned. A native of El Paso, Texas, Grant had resided in recent years in Los Angeles. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Young Marines Leave Friday For Washington

KINGSTON

Ulster County Young Marine unit members numbering 160 accompanied by 15 officers will leave this city by buses at 8:30 a.m. Friday for a three-day trip to Washington, D. C.

Led by Commanding Officer Gilbert E. Gray, the unit will be billeted at the U. S. Marine Corps Base at Quantico, Va. The group will attend the famous Sunset Review at the Marine barracks Friday night in Washington. On Saturday the young marines and officers will make various tours including a visit to the White House, the Smithsonian Institute and other places of national interest.

John Ray Mayone, executive officer, who is in charge of trip arrangements, announced that most meals will be obtained at Quantico, where the boys will live over the weekend in regular Marine barracks. A busy schedule is planned.

Following church services at Quantico on Sunday, the group will embark upon the trip home and should arrive in Kingston at approximately 6 p.m.

In other Young Marine news, it is announced that the unit will be in summer recess until the opening of schools in September. No regular drill sessions will be held during the summer. All boys will receive notification in the mail concerning evening drills during school vacation.

No recruits will be accepted until drills are resumed. Starting in September, any boy eight years of age will be recruited if they are interested.

Israeli Jets Hit Targets Across Suez

TEL AVIV (UPI) — Israeli jets attacked Egyptian military targets across the Suez Canal throughout the night Wednesday in raids lasting until 2 a.m. today, a military spokesman said.

The latest strikes, which followed 10 hours of daylight bombing Wednesday, carried Israel's air offensive against the Suez front into its 21st straight day.

The last day the Israeli air force was idle was May 21, a day of record heat that military observers said made jet refueling operations dangerous.

Military spokesmen in the occupied Gaza Strip said an Israeli army patrol fired on a group of Arab curfew violators near the village of Beit Hanun Wednesday night, killing a 68-year-old man and wounding a 38-year-old woman.

The spokesman said the Arabs ignored orders to halt and tried to escape.

Births Up

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — For the first time in a decade the state's birth rate has risen, reaching slightly more than 17.5 per 1,000 population during 1969. The State Health Department says the rate declined steadily through the 1960s and had reached a 20-year low of 16.9 per 1,000 in 1968.

Tests Force Closing of Some Waterways

ALBANY, N. Y. (UPI)—Some Canadian waterways in the northern Lake Champlain area have been closed due to mercury pollution and samples are being taken from the lake itself by Vermont and New York authorities, it was reported today.

The Albany Times-Union said commercial fishing in Missisquoi Bay, the Richelieu River and parts of the St. Lawrence and Ottawa rivers has been halted by the Province of Quebec Fish and Game Department.

The province had reported in April that wall-eye pike taken in Missisquoi had four times more mercury contamination than acceptable.

Commercial fishing in lakes Erie and Ontario, in addition to other waterways in central and western New York, has been curtailed by the State Health Department because of mercury pollution.

At Ray Brook, a State Conservation Department spokesman said Champlain tests showed "one catfish with an above-actionable level" of mercury.

At Milton, Vt., a Vermont state biologist said tests of Champlain fish for mercury contamination would begin shortly.

Train or Bus

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—State Comptroller Arthur Levitt urges state employees to use trains or buses, rather than air transportation, when traveling between Albany and New York City. The purpose is to save money.

Levitt said the air fare between the two cities is more than three times the bus fare and 2½ times the railroad fare. Moreover, he added, "there is little time advantage in using the more costly air travel."

Ordered to Leave

LONDON (UPI)—A former American stockbroker identified as Roger Bonnor Lewis, 29, was ordered to leave Britain Wednesday after pleading guilty to possession of enough drugs for more than 10,000 hallucinogenic "trips."

Lewis was freed on two bonds of $1,200 each on condition he leave Britain immediately to receive medical treatment in the United States.

Legislation Would Help School Districts in the State

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—School districts in New York State stand to receive at least $56 million in federal funds over the next two years to help offset the costs of correcting racial imbalance.

The money would result from proposed legislation under consideration in Washington that, although intended mainly to spur desegregation in Southern and border states, also is aimed at any district running the risk of "racial isolation."

The bill carries an over-all price tag of $1.5 billion and reflects the Nixon administration's stated goal of "accomplishing the urgent national task of desegregating the public schools," including those in which the racial makeup is related to housing patterns, rather than to official policy alone.

The bill was aired at a Senate hearing in the nation's capital Tuesday. Robert H. Finch, outgoing Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, described it as an attempt to establish a policy to deal with de facto segregation arising from housing patterns in areas outside the South.

According to statistics made available there, New York State school districts that are seeking to correct racial isolation would be eligible for $14.5 million in federal assistance in the next fiscal year and almost $42 million the following year, based on fixed formulae only.

Beyond that, they could receive additional funds at the discretion of the HEW secretary.

Presumably, most of the money would go to the state's largest cities, such as New York, Buffalo and Rochester.

Comparatively, the state has appropriated up to $3 million a year to help meet the district costs for eliminating racial imbalance and improving integrated education. This falls far short of district applications.

But the State Education Department contends that incentives should be given before districts, or individual schools in the districts, find themselves with a majority of their pupils coming from minority groups, since the standard set in the federal proposal.

The "tipping point," it is claimed, is about 30 per cent. After that, little hope is given for reversing housing patterns and thus stemming a district's prospects of becoming racially imbalanced.

In addition, the federal bill restricts the state from doing much more than advising HEW about the situation in a given district before funding is approved.

Moreover, districts generally would be eligible if they were acting under federal court order or had a Title VI compliance review.

Britain Has 'Blackboard Jungles'

LONDON (UPI) — Teachers based on incidents compiled vior, challenges to teachers' authority including open de- fiance, truancy and pilfering. But it is the constant disturbance caused by multiplied instances of comparatively minor misbe- havior that is becoming increas- ingly serious.

—Called for "a national policy to protect teachers against abuse and assault in the classroom."

—Said "there is growing concern among teachers about the standards of discipline and work in secondary schools... there is evidence a situation is developing which militates against good teaching."

The report declared: "There is a slow but certain deterioration in general discipline which can take the form of chronic classroom misbeha- vior."

Other special awards were made, as follows: to the ninth grade student showing outstand-other and a rapid turnover of teachers throughout Britain due to poor pay.

"The growing frequency of cases of assault on teachers by pupils must be stemmed," the report said.

"The London Education Au- thority should take legal action against the parents. In proven cases the child in question should be expelled."

The report said "most teachers are reluctant to acknowledge the extent of the discipline problem since it appears to reflect on their professional ability."

Remains of Noah's Ark—Turkish Timbers Hint It

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Embedded in glacial ice 14,000 feet up the side of a high mountain in eastern Turkey is a large mass of hand-hewn timbers.

A team of American scientists and explorers will fly to Turkey this month in an effort to determine if the wood could be the remains of Noah's ark. Four circumstances encourage the expedition to believe it may be something more than a wild goose chase.

The site is Mt. Ararat, specifically identified in Genesis 8:4 as the place where Noah's ark came to rest as the waters of the great flood began to subside.

The wood has been identified as white oak, and no white oak trees grow within 300 miles of the mountain.

Scientists at the University of Bordeaux in France and the Madrid Institute of Forestry in Spain have concluded from the amount of lignite, the degree of petrification, and the cell structure of the wood that it must be about 5,000 years old. (Radiocarbon tests in U.S. laboratories, however, suggest that the wood came from trees that grew from 100 AD to 600 AD.)

Chemical tests have yielded evidence that some of the wood had been waterproofed with bituminous pitch.

"There seem to be only two logical possibilities," said Renie Noobeergen, a member of the expedition. "Either we must assume that some ancient people went to a great deal of trouble to hand-hew timbers, haul them 300 miles overland, and carry them 14,000 feet up the side of a mountain in order to erect a building for some purpose; or we must conclude that a gigantic flood deposited a large, ship-like object on the mountain."

In 1969, a privately financed U.S. foundation called Search sent Navarra back to the mountain with diamond-tipped boring tools to obtain samples of the wood. These are the samples that have been tested at scientific laboratories in Europe and America.

The main search expedition of eight members plans to leave Washington about June 15. They will fly to Istanbul, Turkey, and then to Erzurum, Turkey. Several additional American and Turkish scientists will join the team at Erzurum, and all will proceed overland to Mt. Ararat, arriving in early July.

It is anticipated the team will remain on the mountain until late August or early September, additional samples for laboratory testing. If further testing corroborates the thesis that the massive task of digging it out of the glacier, a larger expedition will be sent to Mt. Ararat in the summer of 1971 to undertake the massive task of digging it out of the glacier.

A Hopeful Stand On Environment

STANFORD, Calif. (UPI)—Technology—marked by many as the villain in the battle to save our environment—can be prodded into the role of ecological hero, but it will take lots of "people pressure" and untold billions of dollars.

That's the view of Dr. Rolf Eliassen, a Stanford University civil engineer who has spent three decades working on air, land and water pollution controls.

Eliassen is optimistic about man's ability to avert ecological disaster because he believes the necessary scientific and engineering know-how already is available and because he thinks pessimism is useless.

Technology To Control

"We have become too preoccupied with disaster—with an ecological doomsday," he warned in an interview. "We must take a more hopeful stand; otherwise, we might as well give up and just have a hell of a good time if we're doomed anyway."

"One of the things we've got to watch out for is that technology has become the target of so many so-called ecological conservationists. Technology is being held responsible for the ecological crisis they say exists."

"Now we technologists could avert the crisis if this country were to insist on using technology more extensively to control pollution and to create a better environment for man and his future generations."

Cure Comes From $$$

That means spending money and putting pressure on politicians and industry, according to Eliassen. It also means controlling population growth—because "people are the ones who are really causing the so-called environmental crisis."

His specific suggestions include nationwide air pollution controls, reclamation of sewage water for reuse and tough water pollution laws, more nuclear power plants, antinuclear ordinances, and recycling of solid wastes, especially paper.

The cost will be enormous and the public, which will eventually pay the bill as taxpayers and consumers, must keep the pressure on elected officials and, through them, on industry.

'Pressure On Officials'

"We need pressure on elected officials so they can be made to 'understand the gospel,'" he said. "President Nixon felt those pressures. He wasn't very anxious at first, but switched onto the environmental bandwagon."

"Remember, when pressure gets tough, politicians would rather not fight than switch."

As for business, Eliassen feels it must be forced to end pollution through legislation. "We've tried persuasion, and it hasn't been to successful. Some industries have come along and done some things which are all right. But so many have done terrible things," he observed.

Nine Missing

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (UPI)—Nine crewmen were missing and presumed dead today following an explosion aboard the South African-managed tanker Thorland off the Tanzanian coast.

A spokesman for the South African government shipping company said 52 survivors were picked up by the Swedish freighter Bjoernragne. Survivors included A. C. Alexander, captain of the 31,275-ton Thorland. The explosion occurred Tuesday during cleaning of the tanks, the spokesman said.

Middletown State Addition Is Underway

ALBANY Governor Rockefeller has announced the start of construction on a new administration building at Middletown State Hospital in Middletown, Orange County. The hospital serves 3,000 mentally ill patients from Orange, Sullivan and Ulster counties.

The construction contracts were awarded by the Health and Mental Hygiene Facilities Improvement Corporation, a public benefit corporation created by the Legislature at the Governor's request to spur the improvement of mental hygiene, health and narcotics treatment facilities.

The low bidders who won the construction contracts for the $974,718 Middletown project are: Edward M. Swallow & Sons, Inc. Port Chester, (construction); Mechanic Construction Corp., Poughkeepsie, (heating, ventilating and air conditioning); Garthco Corp., Nassau, (plumbing); M. Eisenberg & Bros., Inc., West Nyack, (electrical). Gorlin-Okun, Inc., New York City, has been named construction manager to direct the work of the four prime contractors.

The new administration building will replace an older structure, which is outdated and inefficient. In the future, when Middletown State Hospital is unitized, the new administration building will be midway between the proposed Orange County unit to the west and the Ulster-Sullivan County facility to the east. Unitization involves setting up small, intensive treatment units within a larger mental hospital, which serve specific geographical areas and integrate their mental health services with local public and voluntary facilities.

Dutchess Fair Slates Pat Buttram

RHINEBECK Pat Buttram, nationally acclaimed humorist, will be the grandstand headliner at the 125th Dutchess County Fair, Aug. 25-30.

Known to millions of television viewers as "Mr. Hancy," the country con-man who gets his greatest joy from out-dealing Eddie Albert in the "Green Acres" series, Buttram has a career dating back to 1934 in radio, motion pictures, television films and personal appearances.

TV Guide magazine has described him as "one of the nation's funniest after-dinner speakers," and he has been hailed as "the natural successor to such homespun humorists as Bob Burns, Irvin S. Cobb and Will Rogers."

Announcing the signing of Buttram as the star of the 1970 Fair, secretary-manager S. Richard Lloyd today said the Alabama native will highlight the fair's grandstand shows on Sunday, Aug. 30.

Daily attractions will include several variety acts with Don Dennis as master of ceremonies. There will be juggling, trained poodles, aerial acrobatic, slack wire and plate spinning performers and an organist.

Added on Thursday afternoon and Friday afternoon and night will be the Joie Chitwood auto-thrill shows. Other grandstand attractions will include two harness racing cards, a battle of bands — country and western style combos — and a parade of volunteer firemen with bands and fire and bugle corps, and fireworks.

Judge Reserves Decision on Feb. 17 Case

KINGSTON City Judge Hubert A. Richter reserved decision Wednesday after trial for 21-year-old George Kelly, of 100 Hoffman Street, and Edward D. Michaels, 18, of 14 Shufeldt Street, who were arrested the night of Feb. 17 by police.

The youths were accused of entering an apartment over Chic's Rendezvous in Uptown Kingston, where a party was in progress, according to police.

Kelly was charged with criminal trespass fourth degree, and unlawful dealing with a child. Michaels faced the same charges. The two were accused of giving beer to a girl juvenile. The complaints were made by George Belanger, manager of the apartments.

Two older girls previously appeared in City Court in connection with the incident.

Fish Raps Administration for Budget 'Dishonesty'

KINGSTON, N.Y. (The Daily Freeman) — Congressman Hamilton Fish Jr. has accused the Nixon Administration of a "bookkeeping dodge" and of dishonesty in concealing the real extent of the budget deficit.

In his weekly newsletter he states that, "When the administration announced that there would be a modest budget deficit of $1.3 billion for 1970, it just wasn't honest with the American people."

Fish said he felt that what is needed is honest reporting. "If this country is operating under a deficit of $11.3 billion rather than $1.3 billion, then the people must be told this fact."

Explaining how the discrepancy came about, Fish said, "The House of Representatives by a vote of 236 to 127 has boosted the temporary ceiling on the public debt from $377 billion to $395 billion, and raised the permanent debt limit from $365 billion to $380 billion."

"This yearly debt increase ceremony, which is becoming an Annual Rite of Spring, is not the cause of a mounting public debt, but another sad sign post along the road of public extravagance. Since 1941 the legal debt ceiling has soared like the Apollo 12 from $49 billion to this year's all-time record high."

"Not to raise the limit would be virtually impossible. The $6 billion in government borrowing over the present $365 billion permanent debt limit would remain as legal on July 1, when the temporary limit of $377 billion expired as it was the day it was borrowed. But the Treasury's legal requirement to repay this debt without the ability to borrow would cause financial chaos. This much is clear."

"What is not clear to many people is why the need for an $18 billion increase in the debt ($377 billion temporary to $395 billion) when we were all told on May 19 that a modest $1.5 billion surplus would actually be a modest $1.3 billion deficit due to a downturn in corporate taxes."

"Because of a bookkeeping dodge, that's why."

"The federal government receives two kinds of income. The first is tax money used to pay government expenses. The second is Trust Fund receipts which can be used for specific purposes. Thus, there are really two budgets: an Administrative or Operational Budget to run the country and a Trust Budget to run various accounts such as Social Security."

"Another way these two budgets materially differ is that trust accounts normally show a surplus, while administrative budgets have traditionally been showing a deficit. So to heighten an appearance of fiscal responsibility Administrations have taken to lumping these two accounts together in what is termed a Unified Budget. What they do not note is that these trust funds must be borrowed, thereby using up part of their legal borrowing power under the debt ceiling."

"Now, although molding these funds together for reporting purposes may make the government look better during most of the year, it tends to make it seem highly deceptive when the debt ceiling increase time when trust and administration funds must be separated. Only then do we get a fair look at the financial reality."

"Thus, when the administration announced that there would be a modest budget deficit of $1.3 billion for 1970 it just wasn't being honest with the American people. The actual difference between spending over income for running the country was closer to $11.3 billion, and next year's projected deficit of $1.3 billion will really be in the neighborhood of $12.9 billion. Hence the need for the massive debt ceiling jump."

"What is clearly called for is the separation of trust and administration funds in budget reporting."

"Complete honesty with the people is a necessity of democracy. A $10 billion budgetary credibility gap cannot be condoned, and must not be permitted. A clear and honest statement of administrative revenues and administrative spending is the least our people deserve, and is the least they should demand."

Two Approvals, One Defeat in Paltz

By JON POWERS

NEW PALTZ

New Paltz Central School District voters approved a record $2.99 million budget for the 1970-71 school year in voting Wednesday at the Middle School on Main Street.

School Board officials, however, were thwarted in their attempts to gain passage of a proposal to purchase an 18.9 acre tract of land adjacent to the high school on South Putt Corners Road. The land was intended to be used as a site for the new elementary school.

That proposition was defeated by a vote of 651-406.

A proposition to purchase 18 60 passenger school buses and four 12 passenger buses also was approved by voters.

The budget, representing a 12.1 per cent increase over last year's total, was passed by a margin of 719-343. A total of 1,108 persons went to the polls Wednesday, the highest figure in New Paltz history. Last year's turnout was less than 400.

Despite the budget increase, however, school officials did not anticipate an increase in school taxes. According to officials, this is due primarily to the fact that state aid for the district has increased because of the earlier phasing out of the Campus School ninth grade and the closing of the St. Joseph's School.

The biggest chunk of the newly approved budget (58.2 per cent) will go towards instruction, an increase of two per cent over last year's budget. Seven per cent of the near three million dollar budget will go towards transportation costs.

Fees for the operation of the Ulster County Board of Cooperative Educational Services cost New Paltz taxpayers an estimated $120,000. This same item was hotly contested by Marlboro School District voters before they approved their budget Tuesday night.

The Paltz School Board suffered its second setback in attempts to get voter approval of a site for the new elementary school. Earlier, a site on Jenkinson Road was similarly defeated by the taxpayers. The new site, located immediately to the south of the high school, was not "perfect" according to several board members. It was stressed that they hoped to find a site nearer to the Town of Gardiner but the areas that were available were either too expensive or could not adequately handle the removal of effluent from the property. Efforts to find another, more satisfactory site, will be continued.

In addition to the three already mentioned propositions, taxpayers also selected three members to the School Board Robert Reid Jr. and Harry Cornwell were reelected to three-year terms while Walter Paradies was elected to the school board for the first time.

A total of seven persons ran for the three vacancies, with Cornwell gaining a close victory over Jerry Bart for the third vacancy. Reid topped the vote-getters with a total of 745; Paradies 741 votes and Cornwell had 485.

$3 Million Budget Passes in Red Hook

By TIM SCHUSTER

RED HOOK

Voters in the Red Hook Central School District gave approval to a record $3 million budget Wednesday by more than a 3-2 margin.

Incumbent Dr. George Michael polled almost a 3-1 margin of votes against challenger William Crane for the lone Board of Education seat up for election.

The proposal, allowing the district to rent classrooms to BOCES, also passed by about a 4-1 margin.

A large number of voters turned out, totalling 1,362 out of almost 1,600 registered. Of these, 761 voted yes on the budget while 441 voted no.

Dr. Michael received 955 votes to Crane's 366 after a campaign which saw the challenger question numerous items on the proposed budget.

It will be the third five-year term for Dr. Michael, a dentist in Red Hook.

The classroom proposition received 858 yes votes and 277 no votes.

Russell J. Keefe, district principal, said that he was naturally "very pleased" with the passage of the budget, which asked that the voters ratify $760,422, to be raised by local property taxation.

This represents an increase of $79,159 in property taxes. There is a $431,000 total increment in the $3,068,754 budget. Increased state aid accounted for much of the large increase.

The rate per $1,000 real property value will be $16.10, still the lowest in Dutchess County and second lowest among 55 Mid-Hudson Valley schools.

The major items credited with increasing the budget such a large amount is the full interest and principal payment for bonds sold to finance the 36-room Mill Road Elementary School addition. This item is $233,920.

Numerous new employees, due to the growth of the school, also contributed to the cost increases.

Highland Budget Is Passed, 553-423

HIGHLAND — A budget in excess of $2.7 million was voted on by Highland Central School District voters and passed Wednesday night 553 to 423.

Elected to the two vacant seats on the Board of Education were Robert A. Hansut and Wilfred Rohde. Hansut, a resident of Highland, was opposed by Vernon Ronk. He received 705 votes to Ronk's 222. Rohde ran against William Fine Jr., who received 34 votes; Vivian Marone, who polled 411 votes; and Anthony Erizzia, with 121 votes. Rohde, a resident of Highland for the past four years, received 563 votes.

The four propositions on the 4-H Country Fair to be held at ballot, including the $2.7 million budget, were all passed by the voters. The first proposition asked for approval of the rental of two classrooms for BOCES.

The third proposition stated that in future elections, names of candidates for Board of Education seats would be placed in a line and the candidates receiving the largest number of votes would win the position on the board as opposed to each candidate running against someone.

The fourth proposition added $10,000 to the budget for student insurance.

St. Joseph's Church, Kingston, was the setting for the marriage of Miss Sharon Ann Brocco, daughter of Alfred J. Brocco of 131 Madison Avenue, Kingston, and Francis William Murphy, son of Mrs. and Mrs. William F. Murphy of 21 Mansfield Place, Rutland, Vt., on Saturday, May 30.

The Rev. William E. Williams of St. Gregory the Great Church in Harrison officiated at the double ring ceremony and celebrated the nuptial Mass. James J. Sweeney, organist, accompanied Mrs. James J. Sweeney who sang traditional wedding selections. Arrangements of white and pink gladioli, white and pink majestic daisies, white pompons and baby's breath decorated the altar and white satin bows marked the family pews.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a traditional white gown of organza with an empire A-line redingote skirt trimmed with Venice lace. The puffed sleeves and high ring neckline were also accented with matching Venice lace. The attached chapel train and hemline of the skirt were accented with small daisy lace trim. A matching mantilla was attached to a pill box and bordered with matching lace. She carried a Colonial nosegay of white bridal carnations, pink sweetheart roses and baby's breath.

Miss Kathleen Mary Onion, Rutland, Vt., was maid of honor in a floor length gown of pink satapeau, styled with a redingote effect which was outlined with embroidered motifs. The gown featured puffed sleeves and ring collar. She carried a Colonial nosegay of deep pink daisies with light pink ribbons.

Attendants were Miss Kathryn Murphy, sister of the bridegroom, Rutland, Vt.; Miss Shirley Machione; and Miss Nancy Sullivan, both of Kingston. Their gowns were identical in styling to that of the honor attendant's and they carried Colonial nosegays of light pink daisies with deep pink streamers.

Timothy Murphy of Rutland, Vt. was best man for his brother. Ushers were Alfred J. Brocco Jr., brother of the bride, Kingston; Joseph Riter, Rutland, Vt.; and Lawrence Lord, Rutland, Vt.

A reception was held at Governor Clinton Hotel, Kingston.

The Rev. Father Sample officiated at the double ring ceremony. Mrs. Connie Jessup provided traditional wedding selections. Arrangements of white gladioli decorated the altar.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an empire style gown of silk organza, fashioned with a high neckline and long puffed sleeves. Motifs of peau d'ange lace enhanced the bodice, sleeves and A-line skirt. The chapel length train was edged with a deep border of matching lace and she wore a stylized headpiece of petals edged with seed pearls to which was shirred the triple tiered silk illusion veil.

Antoinette Magliocca of Poughkeepsie was honor attendant in gown of azalea pink Georgette, fashioned with a high neckline and abbreviated sleeves. Ruffles of self-fabric trimmed the neckline and bodice. The A-line skirt featured a full flowing back. Her matching tulle flirtation veil was attached to a stylized headpiece.

Attendants were Abigail Thomson, cousin of the bride, LaGrangeville; Kathy DeWitt and Elizabeth Uva, both of Poughkeepsie. Their bon bon pink gowns were styled identically to that of the honor attendant's and they wore matching stylized headpieces.

Parris Manfredi, cousin of the bride, was flower girl in an azalea pink gown styled similarly to those of the other attendants. She wore a crown of tiny silk flowers in her hair.

John Rizzo of Poughkeepsie was best man for his brother. Ushers were Mike Doreo, Henry Stockrocki, and William Constantino, all of Poughkeepsie. Ronald Rizzo, brother of the bridegroom, was ringbearer.

Registration is also now open for the 1970 summer session. The art classes during the summer months are only open to children of three different age groups: six-eight year olds, nine-12 years old, and a special program for four-five year olds. The groups are small, about 12 children each, with the bulk of instruction geared specifically to the needs of each individual child. Each group meets separately, once a week, in the facilities of the comfortable, well-equipped and well-lighted studio, in an atmosphere of informality. The Studio provides all of the basic materials, and registration during the summer months is by the class. Both the Studio's approach and all of the various projects enjoyed by the students have been developed by the well-known artist and Art Students League Instructor Bruce Dorfman in collaboration with his wife Jeanne. Joining the school this summer will be artist, Nancy MacDonald, who will present the classes for the nine-12 year old group. Classes begin the week of July 6.

Young People's Studio is located in the heart of Woodstock, at 3 Tinker Street, at the intersection of Mill Hill Road, Rock City Road and Tinker Street. Detailed information may be obtained from Mrs. Bruce Dorfman in Woodstock.

Those who will serve with her include Hazel Neff, vice president; Dorothy Cort, secretary; Fran Cross, recording secretary; Peggy Lapp, treasurer; Mildred Williams, Harriet Lapp, Lorraine Lapp, trustees.

Activities planned include a Primary Day bake sale on Tuesday, June 23 starting at noon in the firehouse; a spaghetti and meatball supper, August 15, at the firehouse; a spaghetti and meatball supper, August 15, at the firehouse with servings from 5 to 7 p.m.; a penny social in August at a time to be announced.

Members voted to give the firemen $100 towards the purchase of walkie talkies. Anyone interested in joining the Auxiliary should contact the officers.

To Excuse Gen. Wheeler On Tax for $25,000

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. Wheeler has been "determined" to be permanently unfit for duty by reason of physical disability excused payment of federal income tax on $25,000 of his annual retirement pay on grounds of disability.

Formal Army orders say post.

Although he suffered a heart attack in September 1967, Presidents Lyndon B. Johnson and Richard Nixon each later extended him in the JCS chairmanship for an extra year.

When asked for specific information on Wheeler's disabilities, the Army replied that "information contained in medical records is privileged and therefore exempt from public release."

The Army said 70 per cent disability means that $2,100 a month of Wheeler's retirement pay will be income tax exempt. Such exemption percentages are based on active duty salary.

Wheeler now draws $3,000 a month as JCS chairman.

The Army said the determination of disability in Wheeler's case was made by Maj. Gen. Kenneth Wickham, its adjutant general, on behalf of Secretary of the Army Stanley Resor.

The adjutant general acted on the recommendation of an Army medical board, a physical evaluation board and the Army Physical Review Council, it said.

How, if Wheeler was so disabled, did he perform his function as JCS chairman? The Army was asked. It replied: "Your question should be referred for answer to the secretaries of Defense who recommended him and to the presidents who appointed Gen. Wheeler to serve as chairman... and at whose pleasure he continues to serve; and to the Senate which advised and consented to the appointments."

Doth Burke Protest Too Much?

Yankee Officials Say: "Sorry, No Sale"

NEW YORK (AP) — Jerome D. Hoffman, the president of a London investment company, arrived in New York late Wednesday night, ready to purchase the New York Yankees from the Columbia Broadcasting System.

Although informed that CBS has said the team is not for sale, Hoffman remained undaunted. "We'll see what happens," he said. "We don't want to embarrass anyone."

"We can go $20 million, $22 million, $25 million. It all depends on the books. If they want to sell we want to buy."

Hoffman, a former St. Louisan who is president of International Investors Group Services Ltd., said he had talked by telephone with former New York Mayor Robert F. Wagner, who is board chairman of the investment group, and will see him today.

He also said he received a call from Michael Burke, president of the Yankees while he was in London, but he didn't elaborate on the call.

Burke said late Wednesday "the club is not for sale."

"We are not negotiating," he said. "I don't know Mr. Hoffman. If he said he spoke with me on the telephone, he must have meant he spoke with my office. I never have met the man."

Burke did say, however, "If someone comes along with $25 million, you'd have to consider it. In a prepared statement, William Paley, Chairman of the Board at CBS, said that the Yankees were not for sale. The network purchased the club in 1964 for $14 million and was reported to be disenchanted with the club.

The land on which the Stadium sits is owned by the Knights of Columbus, the Stadium itself is actually owned by Rice University in Houston. Officials of the K of C said that no one has contacted them about a sale.

Yogi Is Pepi's Inspiration

(By United Press International)

Joe Pepitone needs to be inspired while all Jim McGlocklin asks is a little support.

Pepitone belted a grand slam homer, his first as a National Leaguer, and a double Wednesday night in leading the Houston Astros to a 5-3 victory over New York and he credited Mets first base coach Yogi Berra with his fine performance.

"He (Berra) inspires the hell out of me," said Pepitone. "I enjoy playing in front of Yogi and when he's there it makes me play a little better. He was my manager and he was with the Yankees when I came up. I respect him. He just makes me want to play."

McGlocklin, who posted a less than mediocre 33-43 record in five seasons with the California

Angels, is now 8-3 after pitching a nifty three-hitter for Cincinnati as the Reds beat the Montreal Expos, 7-0 for their fifth straight victory. McGlocklin also turned in the Reds' fourth straight complete game pitching effort.

In other National League games, Atlanta beat Philadelphia, 5-1; San Diego held off Chicago, 11-8; Los Angeles tripped St. Louis, 4-2; and San Francisco downed Pittsburgh, 4-2.

In the American League, New York edged Minnesota, 2-1; Baltimore shaded California, 2-1; Oakland topped Cleveland, 6-4; Washington whipped Kansas City, 8-1; Detroit beat Milwaukee, 7-5; and Boston got by Chicago, 7-6, in 14 innings.

Pepitone, who had hit five grand slammers while with the Yanks, powered a Nolan Ryan fast ball into the right field seats to cap a five-run fourth inning. The Astros first run scored when Ryan walked opposing pitcher Denny Lemaster with the bases loaded to set the stage for Pepitone. Fred Gladding, the last of three Houston relievers, preserved Lemaster's fourth win with three innings of shutout pitching.

Pepitone, a native New Yorker, when told the game had been televised back to his hometown, cracked, "What the hell, my friends probably didn't see it anyway. They were probably all out drinking."

In the American League, the Yankees, New York's forgotten team last year when the Mets became folk heroes, knocked out their seventh win in eight games to remain 4½ games behind division-leading Baltimore. Horace Clarke racked a two-run homer and Mel Stottlemyre picked up his second win in a 2-1.

Bill Veeck Continues To Sound On Fat Cats

NEW YORK (UPI) — Bill Veeck, who has been playing fat cats for the last 30 years, engaged in his favorite form of amusement Wednesday when he testified against organized baseball's reserve clause.

"The argument that a change in the reserve clause will destroy baseball is absurd," said the former owner-general manager of the St. Louis Browns, Cleveland Indians and Chicago White Sox, "because the scufflers will always beat the fat cats in that game."

It's fat cats who run baseball today, according to Veeck, and they want to preserve the reserve clause for their own protection.

"The reserve clause is morally and legally indefensible," said Veeck, before federal judge Irving Ben Cooper officially closed the case on the Curt Flood trial. "I'm testifying to that now and I've been on record with that statement since 1941."

"How many men who buy into baseball today actually live off the game?" Veeck asked, as he relaxed later in the day. "The old fellows had to scramble, borrow to strengthen their clubs. These fellows today want to protect their investments by championing the status quo."

Veeck, whose 1948 Indians gave Cleveland its first pennant since 1920, also rejected the idea that Yankee wealth won pennants during the 1920s, 1930s, 1940s and 1950s.

"The Yankees won because they had a great organizer in George Weiss and a great

College Series Starts Friday

OMAHA (AP) — The Texas Longhorns and Southern California Trojans, old hands in baseball tournament competition, take on a pair of strong upstarts to open the College World Series Friday night.

The double-elimination tourney, drawing eight NCAA district winners throughout the nation, will stretch about a week, including scheduled play for the first time on Sunday. There will be a new champion since Arizona State failed to win a return trip.

After Friday's doubleheader, there will be three afternoon-night games Saturday and the same slated for Sunday. By this time, a winners-loser bracket should be formed up and two teams eliminated by absorbing their second losses.

Texas 36-6 opposes the Delaware Blue Hens (22-4) at 5:30 p.m. CDT Friday in Omaha's Rosenblatt Stadium, followed at 8:30 p.m. by Southern California (47-12) facing the Ohio University Bobcats (31-4).

The two losers will meet Saturday at 1:30 p.m. That night, the Florida State Seminoles (45-7) play the Arizona Wildcats (44-16) and the Dartmouth Indians (23-8) engage the Iowa State Cyclones (18-9).

Sunday's timetable calls for games between Saturday's loser as well as games between Friday and Saturday's winners.

Singleton Slugs Two

By United Press International

Tidewater's Ken Singleton continued to serve notice he may be the answer to the parent New York Mets' hitting problems Wednesday night as he slugged his 12th and 13th home runs in pacing the Tides to an 8-4 victory over Buffalo.

The 6-4, 210-pound outfielder has already surpassed his 1969 total of 10 homers with the Mets Memphis team where he hit .309, and if the world champions continue to have their hitting woes it wouldn't be too surprising to see them recall the Tides' top slugger.

In other games, second place Syracuse slipped another game behind Tidewater as they dropped a 4-2 decision to Columbus. Elsewhere, Louisville outlasted Rochester in a game that featured 29 hits, 13-10. Carmen Fanzone belted his

El Diablo Captures Mighty M Feature

MONTICELLO With the favored Scar Way (L. Foster) eliminated almost immediately by a costly break in the first turn, second choice El Diablo with Tom Perez in the sulky availed himself of the welcome opportunity to score his second victory in his last three starts at the Mighty M in Wednesday's featured Class B-2 trot. In fact, his score card in six starts at this meet shows an impressive tally of two wins, two seconds and two thirds.

Perez rushed El Diablo to the top at the start, only to give way to Caballero (Ken McNutt) at the quarter pole. Positions remained unchanged for the next half mile until El Diablo regained the lead at the three-quarters and the issue was never in doubt from there. Al Burton's son, Steve, worked Windy Lightning up for second money and Eddie Taylor garnered the show position with a Monticello first starter, Irish Adam, as Caballero faded to fourth.

As the tote board flashed the winning payoff of $7.60, Tom Perez accepted a handsome trophy from the Demarest Hotel of Warwick, N. J., in behalf of his father, Ernest J. Perez of Stony Brook, N. Y., who just happened to be the winning owner. The handsome four-

Lions Club Kiwanis Winners

KINGSTON Brian Sheltner and Steve Mihic combined for a 5-hitter, as Kingston Lions defeated Kiwanis, 4-2, in the second set of Babe Ruth League games. In the other contest, Veterans of Foreign Wars drubbed Miron Lumber, 22 to 1, behind the 2-hit pitching of Dave Decker and Walt DeBrosky.

Kevin Jones led the 7-hit attack on Bob Johnson of Kiwanis with a single and triple and Dab Brown stroked two singles. Johnson collected two hits on his own with a single and double. Chris Schick hit two singles.

VFW collected only 11 hits off Dennis Rapp, Tim Mahoney and Ed Esposito, but walks and errors built up the run total. The game was halted by darkness after six innings.

Dave Decker, who fanned nine, was the winning pitcher. John Becker of VFW led the hitters with a single and double.

SAUGERTIES

What price, practice!
An IBM systems programmer who had never seen the course until a few minutes before tee-time, fired a 3-Over-par 75 to lead the At-Large qualifying round for the Herdegen Memorial Golf Tournament here Wednesday.

Charles Shiverick, a tall, solidly built player who was virtually unknown in area golf circles, toured Sawyerkill Country Club's challenging 665-yard, par 36-36-72 layout in nines of 40-35 to lead the field by one shot.

Sylvester (Syl) Pesavento, one of a trio of New Paltz State University representatives who qualified, was runnerup with 39-37-76. Doug Sheppard, the State U. varsity golf coach claimed third place with 40-37-77.

Robert Rizzuti, the third State U. official, shared a four-way tie at 78 with Jordan Pauker (40-38) of Wiltyck; Vlad Hoyt (40-38), the Ontario Central High No. 2 man; and Doug Tatar (38-40), the No. 2 player on the Kingston High School varsity. Rizzuti was out in 42, with a quadruple-bogey 8 on the 9th hole, but came back in 35 to match Shiverick's low nine for the day.

A couple of other high school players — Howie Gordon (42-39) of Ontario High and Ted Decker (41-40) tied for the last two qualifying spots with 81's.

Decker, incidentally, played bare-footed, because of a bruised heel on his right foot. Rick Tavares, an unattached IBM player, missed the cutoff figure by one stroke and Alex Sharpe III, of Fort Lee, Virginia and Scotty Dean of Ontario High were two strokes off with 83s.

Shiverick, a former varsity star at St. Peter's College, N.J., parlayed a blazing putter into three birdies and several near-misses on the Sawyerkill greens that are an exacting test for the payoff weapon.

There was a hint of things to come on the very first hole when Shiverick got home in two on the par-5, 510-yard hole, then three-putted from 12 feet for his par 5.

Shiverick rolled in a 20-footer for his first birdie-3 on the par-four, 343-yard seventh hole. He parred the next two holes to make the turn in 40.

On his second swing around scenic Sawyerkill, Shiverick missed a 3-footer for a birdie on the 10th hole. On the 410-yard, par-4 twelfth, Shiverick canned a 23-footer then picked up his third birdie with a 10-footer on the 172-yard 17th. He parred the ninth for his 35.

The 26-year-old Shiverick, who resides in Kingston, started his golf career at Wanamassa, N.J. High, then captained the St.

The Man Who Never Saw the Course

Shiverick's 75 Paces Field

Peter's Prep squad before entering St. Peter's College, where he played No. 2 singles.

He recently fired a 72 at IBM Country Club, Poughkeepsie in the Golf Day competition. It was good for third low gross. Ahead of him were two noted Ulster County amateur golf names—Harvey Bostic and Leon Randall—whom Shiverick will see a lot of over the next two weekends.

Shiverick's two playing partners—Ted Decker and Rick Tavares—attested to his blazing putter. "He was red hot," they said. "With a few breaks, he could have had a sub-par round."

Forty two players tee off in the first round of the 20th anniversary tournament Saturday at 8:30 a.m. at Sawyerkill. The second round starts the same time Sunday at Woodstock.

Shiverick's card:

Par out 544 345 434-36
Shiverick 565 347 334-40
Par in 454 345 435-36-72
Shiverick 453 355 424-35-75

All the Herdegen players have been invited to a continental breakfast by the management of The Sawyerkill Country Club. Serving will start Saturday morning at 7:30 a.m.

"We at Sawyerkill are extremely happy to be hosting the Herdegen for the first time," said president Morris.

Big Eagle For Vallo

MIAMI (AP) — Ted Vallo of Dutchess Junior College in Poughkeepsie, N.Y., sank a stunning 270-foot eagle Wednesday to force a three-way tie for first place in the second round of the National Junior College Tournament at the Miami Lakes Golf Course.

Vallo finished with a 75 for a 36-hole total of 146 on the par 72, 7,039 yard course.

He is tied with first-round leader Jim Wilkins who skied to a 76 from his opening 70 and Jim Smith, at 74.

Tied at 148 are Dave Divine, 75, from Glendale, Ariz., Junior College, and Don Johnson of Howard County, Tex., who charged up from eighth place with the day's low round of 71. Vallo, from Beacon, N.Y., narrowly missed an eagle on the par five, 559-yard ninth hole when his wedge shot stopped two feet from the pin.

Barthel is Critical of the Frills

ELLENVILLE — County Legislator George Barthel (D-Dist. 10), in his first political statement since becoming a candidate for the State Assembly, criticized frills in state government, general waste of taxpayers dollars and he assailed duplications of studies and commissions.

The Ellenville Democrat, who will oppose Assemblyman H. Clark Bell in November, promised "to take a long hard look at the increasing drug problem and added that real estate cannot take anymore real estate taxes."

He also promised to fight for more state aid to education and to keep school boards under local control.

Barthel cited his long public service to the people of the Wawarsing area and promised, if elected, to continue fighting for not only residents in his district, but for all Ulster County residents.

His background in politics includes six years as councilman in the Town of Wawarsing, six years as a member of the Ulster County Board of Supervisors and a member of the Ulster County Legislature.

He has been one of the few consistent Democratic winners in the county and has been on most of the key committees in both the former Board of Supervisors and in the County Legislature.

Owner of a large farm in the Town of Wawarsing for more than 24 years, Barthel is a graduate of Ellenville High School and holds a BS degree from Cornell University.

He served as a Navy Ensign during World War II and since his discharge, has been on numerous boards and aided many organizations in Ulster County.

The Democratic candidate was a county extension service committee member for 18 years, was agricultural conservation and stabilization service member for 12 years and was appointed by former Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman to the national advisory committee for rural area development.

Barthel has served on the March of Dimes committee for 25 years, including five as Town Wawarsing chairman. He is a member of the Cooke-Taylor Post (Ellenville) American Legion and a past member of the VFW.

Other community services include past chairman of the Town of Wawarsing Boy Scout drive, local chairman of Ulster County Community Action Committee, vice chairman of the Family Service Center and a member of the Board of Directors for Southern Ulster Mental Health Board.

An elder in the Dutch Reformed Church of Ellenville and a three-year president of the Wawarsing Sportsmen Club, Barthel and his wife are the parents of four children. They also have two grandchildren.

"I am a candidate for State Assembly because, like everyone else, I am fed up with higher taxes. We need equality in taxes and assessment. We need a Democratic controlled state body and we need someone who will work for all the people, not just a few," Barthel concluded.

Paltz Drug Guidance Location—A Plea Made to Reconsider Move

By JON POWERS

NEW PALTZ — A citizen's plea to reconsider apparent efforts to establish the center for the New Paltz Narcotics Guidance Council at 43 Church Street in the village, highlighted the monthly meeting of the New Paltz Town Board Wednesday night in the Town Hall.

Mrs. George Birchall addressed members of the Town Board and about 20 citizens prior to the official opening of the Board meeting. She urged members not to approve a lease which would establish the center for the Narcotics Guidance Council in a residential home on Church Street.

Mrs. Birchall said that efforts should be made to increase local police involvement in the narcotics problem rather than spending money to establish a distribution point for anti-narcotics literature.

According to Town Board officials, however, the lease has not been presented for their approval, although they expect that it will be in the near future. Since the NGC was first formed by the Town Board, the Board must subsequently pay the expenses for the establishment of a full time center.

According to Mrs. Birchall, the family currently residing at the location on Church Street, has been served an eviction notice by the owner of the property, John Franco. Mrs. Birchall claimed that the current tenants are paying a monthly rent of $80, while the lease considered by the Town Board calls for a rent payment of $140 per month. Observers in the audience, however, were quick to point out that the eviction notice was served after the family indicated they could not afford a specific rent price increase. It was stated that the owner of the property served the eviction notice prior to the time when consideration was being made to establish the site as the center for the NGC.

The board has been granted $6,000 to establish a permanent center for the Council, which will be run under Town Board governance. But Mrs. Birchall questioned whether similar allotments of funds will, in time, be established to create centers for persons suffering from cancer or heart disease. Mrs. Birchall advocated the continued use of rent-free buildings to house the center.

Mrs. Birchall also expressed concern over whether or not methadone treatment would be utilized at the center under the guidance of a physician, but she was informed later in the meeting that the NGC and the Town Board had already decided against this measure. Town Supervisor Anthony Moriello assured Mrs. Birchall that the "focus of the Narcotics Guidance Council is on prevention and education, not treatment." And Rexford Schneider, Town Justice, answered Mrs. Birchall's suggestion that the police effort be increased by stating, "Addiction is a medical, not a criminal problem."

Mrs. Birchall also questioned the proposed site of the new center. In addition to the fact that it is located in a residential area, she added "Right across the street pot is sold at 4 a.m. every morning. This is a known fact to everyone who lives on Church Street." Moriello replied that, if they do establish a permanent center, its purpose will be to "alleviate the drug problem, not compound it."

Town Board members assured those in attendance that the proposed lease will not be acted upon immediately. Mrs. Birchall implied that Board members had already made up their minds to approve the lease, a statement that was strongly denied by Moriello and other members.

Mrs. Birchall's argument was summed up in these words: "The selling of literature is a waste of the taxpayer's hard-earned money. Let's do something constructive."

Richardson Near Certainty As New HEW Secretary

WASHINGTON (AP) — Elliot L. Richardson appears certain of Senate confirmation as secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, but a major administration program he inherits with the job could be more of a problem.

The Senate Finance Committee called Richardson in today to start the confirmation proceedings with all indications pointing to a friendly reception to his appointment to succeed Robert H. Finch.

But there were few signs of agreement on President Nixon's welfare reform program, even though the White House rewrote the plan to counter Senate opposition.

Nixon resubmitted the reform package Wednesday after the Finance Committee told Finch six weeks ago to rewrite the proposal to make sure the plan would not discourage welfare recipients from working.

Nixon outlined revisions centering on an overhaul of the food stamp program and a new health insurance system for poor families, but delayed their introduction in Congress until next year.

Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., already has said he will insist on an administration analysis of the entire program to show Congress whether it will mean more income for poor people who take jobs and encourage them to accept employment.

Nixon, in his revised message, said his family assistance program indeed offered incentives to the poor to work, although he did not spell them out.

The revised version left intact the basic provision of the original administration plan: A yearly family assistance system providing a family of four $1,600 a year in federal cash benefits, with subsidies continuing on a sliding scale until household income passes $3,920.

There was evidence the new Nixon message would not satisfy Senate critics. While conservatives have complained about work incentives, the cost of the program, and the expansion of welfare rolls, liberals have proposed rival programs to offer higher benefits.

Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., said it may be some time before the Finance Committee holds hearings on the revised package.

"We'll certainly study it," the committee chairman said. "The closer they come to having it make sense, the better."

BALLOONS TOO HIGH — William Looney of suburban Berkeley, Mo., is ready to take on the Federal Bureau of Investigation, the Federal Aviation Administration and the Berkeley Police Department, using three 39-cent balloons as ammo. The war started when Looney sent aloft his balloons to prove that jets are flying hazardously low over his house. He lives a half-mile east of Lambert-St. Louis field, in the approach zone and claims that the planes fly less than 500 feet over his house. The FBI sent the Berkeley Police to stop Looney from flying his balloons but, he reasons, "If my balloons are too high their jets are too low." (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Esopus Nears Completion To Complex Problems

By ALBERT CAWEIN

PORT EWEN — Solutions to two complex problems—a landfill and water pollution at Rifton—were brought closer to consummation at Wednesday night's Esopus Town Board meeting held here.

Supervisor George H. Freer said the town is moving ahead on operation of its own landfill and expects to open the facility by July 1.

Supervisor Freer reviewed the recent visit of Joel Sachs, an assistant attorney general and the inspection tour at the 26-acre former Gordon property at West Park. Residents of the area, who have been displeased with the choice of the site, asked for an investigation by the State Attorney General's Office.

Sachs indicated that the matter was not within the jurisdiction of his office, but the department was obligated to look into all complaints.

Freer said that the date has been approved by the Hudson River Valley Commission, the County Planning Board, the Town Planning Board and the County Board of Health.

The Town Board agreed to move forward with the project and authorized the advertising of bids for machinery needed to start the operation. The board will review applications for a landfill custodian Thursday, June 18 at 8 p.m. in the town hall. They will also discuss an ordinance which will outline rules of operation.

In the matter of solving the water pollution problem at Rifton, the Town Board has set another public meeting Wednesday, June 24 at 7:30 p.m. at Rifton Firehouse at which time a decision is expected on the formation of a water district for the area to provide a source of supply from deep wells. Run off from septic tanks has caused pollution of several wells in a section of the hamlet requiring some form of action to solve the condition.

A lighting problem is also coming closer to a solution with the Town Board authorizing the installation of three additional street lights on Lake Shore Drive. They are to be installed by Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corp.

The Rev. Daniel Ogden, chairman of the Ross Park Commission, reporting on the improvement program at the park said the work is behind schedule. He noted the general use area and the pavilion will be ready for a tentative opening date of June 29. The Town Board is contemplating some action against the contractor, PBS Construction Company, if the contractor does not meet the time schedule for completion of the project.

Chief Assessor Jack Reynolds reported he is working closely with the State Land Acquisition Bureau to secure a 50 by 100 foot tract which is a direct right-of-way from Route 9W to the waterfront on Mirror Lake. Acquisition by the town would provide public access to the lake. Acquisition was urged by the Ross Park Commission.

Building Inspector DeVall Dunbar has received a request from the County Health Department to set up a uniform set of standards and an application in conjunction with the town's Building Code.

Supervisor Freer reported the matter with the Penn Central Railroad is pending before Town of Ulster Justice Sherwood Davis. The railroad has been issued a summons to appear to answer charges of violation of the town's rubbish disposal local law. The supervisor said debris from two derailments is littered along the railroad's right-of-way. Legal action was taken when the railroad failed to clear up the debris after several notices.

Freer announced the town is receiving a $3,300 grant under the Erwin Road Plan for major repairs and rebuilding of some town roads. Some of the work has already been completed, he said.

The figures he gave were 6,612 telephone complaints and a total of 2,529 for all other categories.

Swidler's conclusion was that the principal problem mastering new and complex technologies at the same time that the industry is attempting to take care of rates of growth in regular local and toll service which alone would tax the best of managers.

There now are about 140,000 coin telephones in the downstate region comprising New York City and the Counties of Nassau, Suffolk, Westchester, Rockland, Putnam and part of Orange.

While the regulatory agency was promulgating its orders for pay phone service there, PSC Chairman Joseph C. Swidler addressed the 48th annual convention of the New York State Telephone Association Inc. at Lake Placid.

Swidler told the telephone officials that, in his first three months in office this year, he had discovered that the commission receives "several times as many complaints about telephone service as it does for electric, gas, steam, water, railroad, truck and bus service combined."

Telephone Service Must Improve...PSC

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) —

The New York Telephone Co. is under orders to assure persons in metropolitan New York that their coins will get them convenient, reliable service on pay telephones.

The Public Service Commission called on the company Wednesday to comply with specific directives that include seeing to it that coin telephones do not remain out of order for long periods.

The order resulted from a 6,000-word report in which PSC examiner Isadore E. Crade said: "The company could have done more in the past. It will be expected to do more in the future."

Requirements imposed on the company include:

—Adding at least 1,000 public coin telephones "in the busiest locations in the downstate area"

—Expanding the maintenance repair staff "to the extent necessary" to restore coin telephone service within four hours of the detection of any lapse of service.

—Formulating for commission approval "standards for determining when additional public coin telephones are required and when they should be removed because of vandalism, larceny or other factors."

The company also was told to explore the feasibility of establishing "assisted" public telephone centers "in various parts of New York City, including low-income areas. Company employees would be available at such centers to help telephone users when necessary and to deter vandals."

There now are about 140,000 coin telephones in the downstate region comprising New York City and the Counties of Nassau, Suffolk, Westchester, Rockland, Putnam and part of Orange.

Dear Abby

Don't Tolerate Insult

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
(© 1970 by Chicago Tribune-
N.Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: I need an impartial opinion. I have a friend who is in his sixties. He claims he cares for me. He is perfectly charming when we are in the company of women who are older, or less attractive than I. But if there is a younger or prettier woman around, he is sure to say something like, "I think I'll dump her (pointing to me), and take YOU out instead." In the past I've just smiled and ignored it, even though I was deeply hurt inside.

The last time he did this, I lost my temper. He started making over a cocktail waitress and offered to "see her home safely." (She declined.) On the way home, I felt about his behavior, and I really lost my temper. He said, "I was having a 'menopause fit.'"

I haven't heard from him in a week. Should I call and apologize for losing my temper? BUFFALOED

DEAR BUFFALOED: That depends upon how you "lost your temper." If you let loose with a right to his jaw, then apologize. But if you simply said what you meant and meant what you said, no apology is necessary. If you lose him, you lose him. Who needs a man who humiliates you in public, and makes cruel references to your "time of life" in private?

DEAR ABBY: While in a parking lot, I was shocked when a young man rolled down his car window and yelled obscenities at an elderly woman driver, even though she was obviously a very poor driver.

Now, it happens that my husband is considering recommending this same young man to a very important and responsible position with his firm. In view of this young man's rude and immature behavior, I hate too see my husband back him. Should I mention this to my husband? What is your opinion of such a person? This has really upset me.

CONCERNED
DEAR CONCERNED: My opinion of this person is the same as yours. He's rude and immature. Yes, mention it to your husband. One glimpse of a man's behavior when he doesn't know he's being observed is worth a 10-page "aptitude" test. If your husband's firm wants a patient, courteous, controlled, mature man — your young friend doesn't qualify.

DEAR ABBY: It seems only logical to me that when a woman becomes a widow at an age when she can no longer live alone, she should go to live with one of her children. (Preferably a daughter.)

Not MY mother-in-law. Oh, no! She prefers to remain "independent." Ha, that's a laugh. Without any income whatsoever. She went through every dime of her insurance money in three years. Now she's sitting pretty in a fancy senior citizens' residence. And who do you think is paying for it? Her children, of course. She has five, who share the expense equally.

The other four can manage nicely, but it puts a real strain on us. In fact, I had to go back to work so his mother could be "independent."

My mother-in-law is only 19 years older than I am, and I wouldn't mind retiring in a fancy senior citizens' residence myself. Do you care to comment?

WEARY IN DETROIT
DEAR WEARY: I think you've said it all.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "SICK OF FISH" IN WISCONSIN: I can give you the advice, but what you need is the courage to tell your husband that your idea of a "vacation" is NOT getting up every morning at 4 a.m., sitting in a boat with your lip zipped for endless hours, and cleaning fish!

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Letter writing can be a breeze. For Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069.

CARROLL RIGHTER'S HOROSCOPE

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Make a special point to do those things today and tonight that bring you improved health and vitality. Doing little favors for those you like brings them closer to you. You can solve a problem with an ally, too.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Outsiders and co-workers are under tension so be diplomatic, thoughtful with them. Plan how to make your wardrobe more charming. Bring out your own personality, which is what counts the most.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Try not to spend too much money for the kind of recreation you like the most. Be with good friends, but don't criticize them as you have in the past. Show that you really like them.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You have to be patient and understanding if you are to relieve those tensions now existing at home with others. Get at the root of the matter and eliminate whatever is the real trouble. Show intelligence.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Be sure you get those personal problems nicely settled before you step out into the world of action. Save the evening for those who mean a great deal to you. Keep a curb on your temper.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) If you are subtle about it, you can handle that ticklish situation between a bigwig and a good pal very nicely. Be sure to combine activities between the practical and the idealistic. Then you get fine results.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Try not to irritate those who have power over your affairs and keep busy furthering your finest personal aims. Be careful in the handling of credit matters. Show that you are fair and honest.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You have some wonderful ideas now and should forget worries and get busy putting them in operation. Listen to what a person of experience has to suggest. Make sure to stand up for your rights.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Responsibilities may have you confused so wait awhile before you do anything about them, when your thinking is clearer. Be with friends for some relaxation. Get back on even keel.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) A conference with partners is important now instead of dashing about so much making new contacts, etc. Get agreements made, others straightened out. Be careful you do not vex mate in the evening.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You can get much work done now that you are not hampered by that person giving you such trouble. Be sure you know what co-worker's expect of you. Try to be as cooperative as you can.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Steer clear of that person who can waste a lot of your time that could be spent at recreation you enjoy. Be with persons you really like; show them courtesy. Pay that bill early.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Steer clear of arguments between a close tie and an outsider since they do not concern you and will soon blow over. Get busy with regular duties. Save time for the civic work you want to do, also.

if your child is born today... he or she will be one of those charming young people who is a perfectionist and will enjoy any profession where bringing harmony out of chaos is the main interest. Your child will appeal to persons of discrimination and culture, and not to casual-thinking persons. Teach early to be constructive and not destructive, since this penchant for detail could work in the wrong direction. Teach religion early.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU! Carroll Righter's Individual Forecast for your sign for July is now ready. For a copy, send your birthdate and $1 to Carroll Righter Forecast, The Daily Freeman, Box 629, Hollywood, Calif. 90028.

Timely Quotes

The strength of any society is determined by its ability to open doors and make economic opportunities available to all who can qualify. It is a fundamental that civil rights without economic rights are mere shadows.

—U.S. District Judge Charles R. Weiner, upholding constitutionality of the Philadelphia Plan for hiring minority workers.

You've seen me here before... How long, oh, Lord, will our white brothers continue to destroy us?

—Charles Evers, mayor of Fayette, Miss., speaking at the funeral in Jackson of a student killed by highway patrol gunfire, in the same funeral hall where his brother, the murdered Medgar, was paid last respects.

It (the end of American military involvement in Vietnam) would cause a temporary subsiding in anxiety but would in no way, I think, eliminate the general concerns young people have, especially on the campuses, over a wide variety of social and political problems.

—Dr. Alexander Heard, chancellor of Vanderbilt University and special adviser to President Nixon on campus problems.

We ask simply and urgently that you rise to the heroism that these times demand and take swift and decisive steps to restore a unity of vision and purpose... this necessitates a rapid termination of U.S. participation in the Southeast Asia war.

—Forty-three American Nobel prizewinners in a petition to President Nixon.

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

OLDER FRIEND: (Q) I am 12. My best friend is 13. We have been friends since I was 8. I love her. She has been like a big sister to me.

But my mother hates her. She says she is a tramp and her family is no good. My mother forbids me to see her but I still do. I don't tell her my mother hates her. I don't want her to know. Please help me.—A True Friend in Connecticut.

(A) Your mother probably does not hate your friend, but she has two reasons to be concerned. First, she knows a 13-year-old girl is too old for a 12-year-old girl to be around constantly. Their interests are very different. A 12-year-old girl needs to be around girls nearer her own age. Second, your mother probably wonders what interest this practically grown-up girl has in you.

Look around you. I'm confident you can find a girl nearer your own age for a best friend.

EARLY CURFEW: (Q) I am 14 and can't go out at night unless I have a certain place to go. My dad has to know how I'm getting home. I have to be home by 8 o'clock on Friday and Saturday nights. I can't go out at all week nights.

Is this fair?—Home Early in Baltimore.

(A) Your father is very fair, and sensible, too, in wanting to know where you are going, with whom, and how. The week-nights-at-home rule is also sensible, especially during school months.

But 8 o'clock curfew is not realistic. Maybe you can persuade him to let you stay out until 10:30 now, and later as you grow older.

'Divorce Court' Still Rolls

NEW YORK (AP) — A business woman, recently making the standard complaints about television quality, particularly in the summer, added: "I've lost all confidence in 'Divorce Court' since I found out that those husbands and wives aren't real people at all, just actors pretending."

"Divorce Court" is a syndicated show, never really a hit but popular enough to have been around for years. It does have an air of authenticity about its courtroom, particularly for viewers of "Perry Mason" and "Judd for the Defense." It also uses real-life lawyers who, whatever their courtroom style, give a grim, amateurish quality to their television roles.

A distinguished gent named Voltaire Perkins sits there in a black robe and stern mien. His principal responsibility seems to be to interrupt the proceedings at certain moments in order to permit the commercials. He does this by saying he must sign a paper or by summoning the lawyers to the bench. He also summarizes the case at the end of the half hour and decides who gets the divorce.

In a recent program — about the usual for the series, although the details may have been a little earlier than usual — the wife, on the verge of tears, described a happy marriage that had gone on the rocks.

"About a year ago, he started coming home late and became cool and indifferent," she said. This line is used often on "Divorce Court."

The husband was a photographer and his wife went down to black robe and stern mien. His

The Professor opened the five of spades. East's nine lost to South's 10. Whereupon South proceeded to play the ace, king and 10 of clubs. East discarded the jack of hearts as the Professor won the trick with the six of diamonds. East took his ace and South claimed the rest of the tricks.

"When your partner signaled with the jack of hearts, why did you lead a diamond?" asked the student. "I see that South would have made the same 'tricks but how could you tell?"

"He would have made 12, not 11," replied the Professor. "I knew about the 11 by a simple count. Two spades (he was marked with the ace) plus three hearts, plus six clubs total 11. Our only possible tricks were in diamonds and my partner might hold both the ace and the queen. As for the 12th trick that he would make, just study the squeeze situation."

The Professor was right as always. There was no way a heart lead could do him any good; it would have cost him one extra trick. It would not require any great skill on South's part. He would just win the heart: enter his hand with

Nixon Loyalists— New Title Cards

WASHINGTON (AP) — New title cards have been dealt to some Nixon administration loyalists, and an outspoken dissident has been fired, in the latest round of executive office shake-ups.

President Nixon announced Wednesday he is switching George P. Shultz, who is making $60,000 a year as secretary of Labor, to head of a super-agency to handle domestic spending programs.

As leader of the new governmental unit—to be called the Office of Management and Budget, an expanded version of the old Bureau of the Budget—Shultz will keep his Cabinet rank but at only $42,500.

Just last Saturday, Robert H. Finch, accepting a similar slash in leaving his $60,000 job as secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, became the first Nixon Cabinet member to move elsewhere. Nixon named him to the White House staff as a presidential counselor.

Nixon, who reached into the State Department for Undersecretary Elliot Richardson to succeed Finch at HEW, stayed within the Labor Department in tapping Undersecretary James Hodgson as successor to Shultz.

After the mid-afternoon disclosure of the Shultz switch, word came that James E. Allen, a critic of administration policies ranging from school desegregation to the military move into Cambodia, was fired as commissioner of education.

Finch announced he "asked for and received" the resignation—although the outgoing secretary's statement carried no explanation for the step.

Meanwhile, the U.S. ambassador to Columbia said he was resigning. Wednesday night, Jack Hood Vaughn said in Bogota he has submitted his resignation. But he denied reports of disenchantment with the administration's Latin American position.

In other personnel shuffling Wednesday: Caspar Weinberger, current chairman of the Federal Trade Commission, was picked to be deputy director of the Office of Management and Budget, which starts operations July 1.

Robert P. Mayo, who has directed the budget agency that will be abolished at the end of the month, was designated as a presidential counselor, but Nixon indicated Mayo will not remain long in government service.

The President said Mayo had committed himself to only a brief tour.

Wednesday's revisions were the latest in a series of executive branch personnel changes.

It was learned Tuesday that James J. Gallagher, the government's No. 3 education official, resigned with parting shots at federal school policies in general and the administration in particular.

A week earlier, June 3, Dr. Stanley F. Yolles, who complained of political intervention in scientific affairs and faltering White House leadership, was fired as director of the National Institute of Mental Health.

In early May, Anthony J. Moffett Jr. quit as head of the division of students and youth in the Office of Education, accusing the administration of derision of youthful antiwar demonstrators and alienation of youth in general.

Last Feb. 17, Leon E. Panetta resigned as head of HEW's civil rights division. He complained he was forced out, and he accused White House aides of undermining tough enforcement of antidiscrimination laws.

Dr. Allen Not Returning

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — According to sources close to Dr. James E. Allen Jr., the fired U.S. education commissioner isn't considering a return to Albany to become chancellor of the State University.

Allen's resignation from the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare was "asked for and received" Wednesday, according to Robert H. Finch, outgoing secretary. Allen was sworn in to the $38,000 federal post May 8, 1969, after leaving a $40,000 post as New York State Education commissioner.

There had been speculation in Albany recently that Allen would leave the Nixon administration to take the $51,275 job as chancellor, succeeding Samuel B. Gould, who is leaving in September.

However, a source close to the commissioner said Allen was not considering taking the chancellor's post. The source said Allen had known for about three weeks he would be asked to resign.

As late as Monday, speaking in Newton, Mass., where he received an honorary degree at the Boston College commencement, Allen carefully worded his comment on whether he would resign. He said any reports that he was leaving were "all speculation."

Asked if Allen were thinking of returning to Albany, Gould said "I don't know what he plans to do."

Although no reason for the resignation was officially given, Allen had criticized the Nixon administration for the military move into Cambodia and his school-integration through busing philosophy had its opponents among the President's advisors.

Ewald B. Nyquist, who succeeded Allen in Albany after serving under him as deputy commissioner, said his former boss "couldn't accomplish what he tried to" in Washington.

Nyquist said he was "dreadfully sorry for this sudden termination."

Allen, 59, a native of Elkins, W. Va., made the first substantial move in the North toward integrating public schools in 1963 when he ordered busing in Malverne, N.Y.

As New York commissioner, he also ran into opposition over his program to loan textbooks to children attending non-public schools.

The former Syracuse University administrator became commissioner in 1955, succeeding Dr. Lewis A. Wilson. He joined the state education department in 1945 and served as deputy education commissioner beginning in 1950.

New Program, Old Trouble

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon's newly revised welfare reform program is in trouble in the Senate for the same old reasons. Critics say it will put one American in eight on welfare and give no much incentive to get off.

Liberals say the $1,600 a year that would be guaranteed every family of four is too little to sustain a family these days. They want to raise the amount.

Conservatives complained the President's staff did too little revamping to meet their objection that poor families would be hardly any better off if they worked than if they didn't.

Nixon unveiled his "family assistance" plan 10 months ago. The House passed it without major change, but the Senate Finance Committee ordered a redrafting.

While Nixon promised Wednesday in revealing his revised plan that it offered "strong incentives to encourage work and training," he did not spell them out.

Sharp objections to the bill's "disincentive to work" are expected to confront Elliot L. Richardson today when he goes before the Senate committee for consideration as the new head man at the Health, Education and Welfare Department (HEW).

While the White House was discussing its welfare revisions with considerable fanfare Wednesday, senators on the committee were privately briefed.

A Senate source said they were unimpressed with the changes. He said the liberals still considered the program too miserly while the conservatives attacked its cost, its scope and its shortage of "work incentives."

Quake Help Speeded

ANTA, Peru (AP) — Earthquake relief operations were slow getting started, but they are moving along now, and a dirt strip at this village in the Huaylas Canyon has become the busiest airport in South America.

From dawn to dusk every day, planes haul food, medicine and other supplies into the canyon from Lima and the port city of Chimbote. They fly out with survivors—injured or unhurt—of the May 31 quake, which killed 50,000 persons.

Juan Cardinal Landazuri Ricketts flew to Anta Wednesday to see the relief operation and to comfort the survivors. Officials said his visit was "worth a ton of medicine."

Peruvian authorities reported the third loss of an aircraft in a week of relief flights. The National Information Office said a Peruvian air force helicopter crashed near the town of Cajacay and three persons aboard were killed.

Earlier in the day, an Argentine Fokker F27 with seven persons aboard was reported missing en route from Lima to Anta. Last Saturday an American helicopter flying into the canyon was smashed against a hillside by a strong downdraft. The two crewmen and nine passengers were not injured, but the helicopter was destroyed.

One of the big twin-rotor Chinook helicopters sent from the United States made its first flight into the canyon Wednesday, hauling in relief supplies and carrying out stretcher cases to Lima.

Also participating in the airlift are U.S. Air Force C-123 transports, Canadian twin-engine Caribou transports, Peruvian air force DC3s, a number of single-engine planes, and helicopters from Brazil, Chile, Argentina, Peru and the United States.
